

Germany Is Planning To Renew Struggle Declares Clemenceau

"Tiger" Writes That Kemalist Movement Is Allied With Aims of Teutons.

DENOUNCES GERMAN REPUBLIC AS SHAM

Says Germany Remains Nation of Force and War Has Taught Her Nothing.

The peace of Versailles was intended to be a peace of justice. Neither France nor Great Britain demanded other than reparation for the wrong done by Germany during fifty years of war or of peace. The United States appeared at Versailles holding aloft the torch of right and of an ideal. Right: the fourteen points, inspired by the war aims of the allies of 1917, imposing limits on victory and insuring a peace of reason. The ideal: the magnificent dream of the league of nations.

The allies seated themselves at the conference table firmly resolved to substitute the rule of right for the rule of force. And once the treaty has been signed, none among the allies sought to alter its character by going after additional advantages. Rather the contrary occurred.

Two years had not elapsed from the armistice before the allies, forgetting what they had suffered and the common danger, and thoroughly absorbed in their work of peace and of reconstruction, permitted Germany to go back upon her signature, to pull herself together and to prepare new schemes directed against the peace of the world. For imperialist Germany, born of force and counting upon force to perfect her work of hegemony—Germany in peace and defeat had remained a nation of force. The war taught her nothing.

The treaty of Versailles deprived Germany of its means of fighting:

(a) Those provinces where her military and industrial strength found their surest roots.

(b) Germany's military frontier was fixed 50 kilometers east of the Rhine, rendering it impossible for her to mobilize other than between the Elbe and the Weser.

(c) The treaty deprived Germany of her army, of her general staff, of her war schools.

(d) Germany's effectives were reduced to 100,000 men and military service was abolished; the allies, furthermore, had the right to exercise a military control in the empire.

(e) The German navy had ceased to exist; it reposed at the bottom of Scapa Flow or had been incorporated in the navies of the victorious powers. The war aviation service was suppressed. Finally, the formidable ring of alliances which Germany had established round herself and for her own ends collapsed.

Prior to 1914 Germany had constituted the Mitteleuropa which from the Baltic to the Mediterranean, by the exploitation of Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey, had placed 150,000,000 men under Hohenzollern authority. The gateway to the east was opened by the Baghdad railroad. Even Italy followed along.

Germany's Post-War Plight.

1919 Germany found herself alone. Italy had heroically ranged herself beside the allies. Austria-Hungary had collapsed. From this strange amalgamation of peoples there emerged Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia. Poland was reborn. Turkey and Bulgaria had gone down in defeat. Article 80 of the treaty of Versailles forbade Germany to reinforce herself by drawing on Austria. Germany has thus been considerably diminished and isolated. Young races, full of ardent vitality, acted as sentinels on her frontiers. The triple alliance had seen its day. Mitteleuropa had vanished.

Confronted by this bankruptcy and annihilation and displaying a daring and effrontery which might well serve as a lesson to her conquerors, Germany, without despairing a single day, set about reconstituting her violent domination of formerly. Perhaps she didn't recommence her naval activity. The building and arming of a fleet does not lend itself to camouflage and concealment. For Germany to have laid down cruisers and submarines she would have had to do so under the very noses of England and America. And neither the former nor the latter was inclined to allow the empire on the seas, placed in their hands by Scapa and Washington, to slip from them.

Army Came to Life Again.

But it was not the same story with land armament and power. The treaty of Versailles obliged Germany:

(1) To deliver up her war material by March 10, 1920.

(2) To reduce her army to 200,000 men by April 10, 1920, and to have but 100,000 men under arms by June 10 of that year. Germany had no other idea save to gain time and to escape executing the treaty. From the beginning of 1920 she asked for

RUHR OCCUPATION MAY REVIVE WAR, STINNES WARNING

Financial Colossus of Germany Foresees Danger Ahead Unless French Forego Seizure.

WANTS REAL UNION OF TWO NATIONS

Says Oppressive Policies of France May Force War Spirit on Germans by Depression.

BY FERDINAND JAHN.
(Copyright, 1922, for The Constitution.)

Berlin, November 30.—Hugo Stinnes, whose financial and political influence constitute perhaps the controlling factor in Germany's future, believes that a war between France and Germany, as forecast by Georges Clemenceau in America, is unlikely unless—

1. French politicians persist in their policy of advocating ultimatums in regard to reparations payments.

2. The French succeed in accomplishing their threatened occupation of the Ruhr and the Rhineland.

Even then, Stinnes believes it would perhaps be only a case of an "eventual" struggle.

Issues Warning.

Stinnes, with broad plans of close Franco-German co-operation and with the firm hope and belief in its realization through intimate association of French and German big business interests, has informed his French business colleagues unequivocally that while Germany cannot now halt such occupation action in the Ruhr or Rhineland as has been suggested, such action surely would lead to an eventual outbreak of war spirit. In the course of time, he has warned further, this outbreak perhaps might lead to actual conflict.

Stinnes believes that France has it within her power not only to have her devastated territories restored by Germany, but also to institute an era of peace and co-operation between the two nations. He contends that Germany is not in a war mood and even if she were, she is in no position to menace France. In short, he believes, Germany does not desire to start a war with anybody and will not do so unless as a result of extreme depression and by desperation finally forced to it.

Strives for Union.

Far from hoping that such an outcome will eventuate from the present Franco-German difficulties, Stinnes is fervently striving for a real union between these neighbors—a union fostered by their big business men.

Through the agreement framed by Stinnes and Minister Lubersack, of France, representing French industrialists, which agreement provides for the restoration of devastated France by the Stinnes group—the Germans to furnish materials, and labor—Stinnes believes the ground

Thanksgiving Day Proves Happiest Occasion of Year

Football Game, Theaters and Long Auto Rides Help Pass Time Away.

With ideal weather prevailing and with a holiday spirit pervading the atmosphere, Atlanta people Thursday enjoyed one of their happiest Thanksgiving days, according to reports received from all parts of the city where various events and programs were carried out.

Although a monster crowd witnessed the football game between Georgia Tech and Auburn at Grant field, it did not look like these people were missed as the streets were crowded all afternoon with streams of people.

All theaters in Atlanta were filled to capacity several of them giving extra performances. The vaudeville houses, the Forsyth and Atlanta where legitimate attractions are playing, and all the motion picture theaters reported capacity business.

Because of the ideal weather many hundreds of people took motor trips in the country or else enjoyed rambles through the autumn woods.

The churches holding services Sunday morning also were crowded with worshippers. Many of the churches distributed baskets of food while others sent the baskets to various charitable institutions.

Red Barron, Hero of Gridiron, Joins Benedicts' Ranks; Bridegroom So Nervous That He Forgets to Kiss Bride

Declares Auburn "Squarrest Shooting Crew of Football Players in World"—Thousands Witness Ceremony.

BY HENRY T. BALDWIN.

While squads of police formed a barrier between frenzied throngs of hero worshippers and the Baptist tabernacle, "Red" Barron, Georgia Tech's football idol, was married Thanksgiving night, to Miss Alice House, after he had piloted his crew of gridiron warriors triumphantly through its last crucial battle of the year with Auburn.

Two hours prior to the ceremony crowds had filled the interior of the building. Late arrivals elbowed their way through the aisle, and when the seating capacity was exhausted, the police were called. Two revelers seeking to storm the entrance were repulsed. Voices partially hushed by hoarseness combined in exclamations of college yells. Traffic was paralyzed. Crowds surged through the streets within a two-block radius of the building.

Everyone wanted to see Barron and his bride, and as the hour of the ceremony drew near, the hero of so many Grant field struggles, his bride-to-be, and her attendants, were spirited into the tabernacle through a rear entrance.

Cameras Are Busy.

The evening sermon was still in progress when they arrived. The party once in the building went directly to one of the Sunday school rooms. There they were besieged by newspaper men and photographers. Overstart a war with anybody and will not do so unless as a result of extreme depression and by desperation finally forced to it.

Strives for Union.

Far from hoping that such an outcome will eventuate from the present Franco-German difficulties, Stinnes is fervently striving for a real union between these neighbors—a union fostered by their big business men.

Huling Acquitted at Murder Trial

Police Chief Who Slew Muscogee County Officer, Speedily Found Justifiable for Act.

Buena Vista, Ga., November 30.—(Special).—J. M. Huling, charged with the murder of J. O. Clements, Muscogee county officer, was speedily acquitted by the jury at the close of his trial here today. The jury took the case at 8 o'clock tonight and after one hour and twenty minutes announced a verdict of guilty. Hadley Huling, the defendant's son, was ordered dismissed from connection with the shooting.

Following a day of argument by opposing counsel the case went to the jury at 8 o'clock tonight. The trial had consumed four days, having started upon the opening of court Monday morning. Huling is chief of the Muscogee county police, under suspension pending outcome of the trial. Clements was a balliff in a Muscogee justice court.

The shooting which resulted in the death of Clements occurred September 9 of this year. Judge George P. Mappoe voluntarily ordered a change in venue from Columbus to Buena Vista on account of the strong feeling in Muscogee both for and against the defendant.

The state in its argument did not insist on the extreme penalty, though

Harvey Outlines Formula for U.S. Foreign Policy

Ambassador Gives Views in Six Basic Points at Thanksgiving Dinner Party.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Manchester, England, November 30.

George Harvey, the American ambassador, speaking as the guest of honor at a Thanksgiving dinner of the Anglo-American society tonight, outlined in six points what he considered a good formula for the national policy of the United States. The points are given by Mr. Harvey were:

First: To foster the strength of the republic by just legislation and economy at home.

Second: To preserve to the nations of the world the blessings of peace.

Third: To strive to cultivate and maintain a concert of Europe.

Fourth: To avoid needless and entangling engagements.

Fifth: To acknowledge the equal rights of all nations.

Sixth: The foreign policy of the United States should always be inspired by love of freedom.

Responds to Toast.

Mr. Harvey, who responded to the toast "Cordial Relations," said a very few words would comprise a comprehensive adequate response.

"The relations between Great Britain and the United States, both between governments and peoples, ought to be cordial, and they are," said Mr.

BOY BADLY HURT BY AUTOMOBILE

Charles Brannon, Jr., 14-year-old son of Police Officer Charles Brannon, of 64 Holtzclaw street, was severely injured when knocked down by an automobile on Decatur street, within three blocks of the police station, Thursday morning.

Efforts were made by Call Officers J. G. Bowman and F. A. Newport, who were dispatched to the scene, to get the injured youth to go to the Grady hospital for medical treatment, but he refused.

The machine that injured young Brannon was driven by Charles Elliott, a tourist. Officers Bowman and Newport reported that the investigation showed the accident to be unavoidable, and no charges were preferred against Mr. Elliott. His nan-chine is said to have been traveling at a moderate rate of speed at the time.

Negro Boy Killed.

Another automobile accident investigated by the police Thursday resulted in Jewell Powell, 12-year-old negro boy who lives on Fraser street, being killed.

The accident occurred on Fraser street, within two blocks of the boy's home. Albert Brown, negro driving the truck that killed Powell, abandoned the vehicle.

Administration Plans For Farmer Relief Perfected Thursday

HARDING PROGRAM IS TOTAL FAILURE IN EXTRA SESSION

Observers Declare House Emaculated Ship Subsidy Measure by Amendment Before Passage.

LIBERIA LOAN FAILS IN UPPER CHAMBER

And Successful Filibuster Is Fast Putting Anti-Lynch Bill Beyond Hope of Success.

Constitution Bureau.
Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, November 30.—(By Constitution Leased Wire).—Thus far President Harding's extra session of congress, which will be superseded by the regular constitutional session of December 4, has shown all but a complete failure of the administration's legislative program, including the ship subsidy bill, according to statements made in political circles tonight.

Even though the subsidy passed the house yesterday it is looked upon as a barren victory for administration forces, inasmuch as the vital body of the bill is said to have collapsed through an amendment requiring annual appropriations by congress before any money would be paid out of the proposed $125,000,000 subsidy fund.

If this amendment is retained in the senate, the whole project might as well be given up, it is said, as no future congress can be depended upon to vote a subsidy appropriation at each regular session or at any session.

Purpose Defeated.

Further light on the passage of the measure by the house is found in the narrow margin by which it was approved, observers declare, going on further to say that subsidy will be weaker still in the next congress, and that no ship builder or owner will enter into contracts based upon nothing more than a bare possibility that congress will keep up the appropriation in the future. In this way the purpose of the measure is declared to have been defeated.

Action of the senate in recommitting the proposed $5,000,000 loan to the republic of Liberia, effected during the week, is admitted to have sealed the fate of that measure. It is asserted that the senate committee will return no measure on the subject during the present session, and its passage by the house will be invalidated with the convention of the

GREEK KING HELD PRISONER, REPORT

Two More Generals Have Been Arrested and May Face Fate of Six Executed.

Belgrade, November 30.—King George of Greece, is a prisoner in his palace at Athens following his efforts to prevent the executions of the former cabinet ministers, say Athens advices.

After making his protest, the advices add, the king requested the revolutionary committee to permit him to depart from Greece.

MORE GENERALS ARE ARRESTED.

London, November 30.—The Greek revolutionary committee, with the acquiescence of the Greek government, is continuing its round-up of military leaders alleged to be responsible for the Greek army debacle in Asia Minor, according to meager advices from Athens.

Late dispatches report that Generals Dousmanis and Vassilas have been placed under arrest and may be tried by court martial in a manner similar to the trials of the five ministers and one general already executed.

Word from the European capitals continues to show general condemnation of the executions and it is still believed that former Premier Venizelos will find his mission at Lausanne impossible.

The court martial of Prince Andrew, brother of former King Constantine of Greece and former commander of a division in Asia Minor, is to be held Monday, according to Athens advices. Fears are entertained that he will be condemned to death. General Vlachopoulos, who

White House Conference Completes Details for Immediate Financial Aid to Agriculture.

MAKE AID AVAILABLE FOR SMALL FARMER

Meeting Is Attended by President Harding, Secretary Wallace and Twelve G. O. P. Senators.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, November 30.—The new administration program for immediate financial relief to farmers was formulated and practically perfected today at a conference between President Harding, Secretary Wallace and twelve republican senators headed by Senator Watson, of Indiana. It will be put before congress at once and pressed with the full force of the administration.

Broadly the plan brings together in one administration measure the approved portion of various relief measures already pending in congress and contains also provisions to make the intended relief available to the small farmer as well as to the large cattle raisers and grain growers.

The conference was arranged by Senator Watson who has been making an active survey of the question of agricultural relief. It was preceded by a series of conferences between Secretary Wallace and department of agriculture experts. Today President Harding kept his Thanksgiving dinner waiting while he heard the perfected program outlined and gave his general approval.

Features of Plan.

The plan proposes to utilize the federal farm loan board as the agency through which relief is to be given. The details of the financing have been practically worked out. The general purpose is larger and more liberal credits and cheaper interest rates. The opinion of those participating in the conference was that while the war finance corporation had been of great value in alleviating the distressed condition of agriculture, its loans, because of certain limitations, did not reach down to the average small farmer who raises a few cattle or has small quantities of grain to market. By using the federal farm loan board as the agency to carry out the plan of financing, the new administration plan proposes to make the government relief available directly to the small farmers who need it.

The whole subject of farm relief work was discussed exhaustively, but the marketing problem was touched upon only in a general way. The general opinion at the conference was that to extend the program now to include so complex and much controverted a subject as co-operative marketing would only serve to delay the immediate object of relief. The president was told that the pressing need was to provide at once financial aid to thousands of farmers who face mortgage foreclosures because they are unable to dispose of their cattle and crops without tremendous losses. All the senators present approved the program and pledged their support for its immediate consideration in congress.

Statement Issued.

The following statement was issued at the white house tonight:

"At the close of a white house conference Thursday afternoon Secretary Wallace and Senator Lodge made the following statement:

"The president had in conference at the white house Thursday afternoon the secretary of agriculture and Senators Lodge, Watson, Capper, McNary, Gooding, Willis, Shortridge, McCumber, McLean, Nicholson, Fernald and Keyes. The senators chiefly represented the agricultural, banking and currency committees. Two hours were devoted to a discussion of a program for further relief of the American farmer and live stock growers, especially in the way of credits. The various measures proposed were given consideration, and a tentative program of legislation will be recommended to the house and senate committees on banking and currency.

The legislation thought to be best suited to the agricultural and live stock emergency contemplates provisions for:

"Increasing the maximum loan limit

Live Stock Loans.

"Provision for the voluntary creation of live stock and agricultural credit associations primarily to deal with loans on live stock."

"Amendment of the federal farm loan act to provide for the rediscout of agricultural production and marketing paper. Also to add two members to the federal farm loan board."

"The program contemplates creating a division in the federal farm banks to deal specifically with production and marketing credits, thus supplying a means of discount to the farmer on longer time notes than are eligible to discount by the federal reserve banks. Credits to the maximum period of three years are to be provided where the turnover covers that period."

"The conference brought out a clear determination to develop a workable plan of dealing with the relief of farm credits at the short session of congress and will have the cordial sanction of the majority in congress and the president."

Telephone System Employees Awarded Memorial Medals

New York, November 30.—Six women and four men employees of the Bell telephone system were today awarded Theodore N. Vail memorial medals for noteworthy public service and what was in most cases heroic result in the saving of human lives during that period.

1921. With the medals the company also gave a total of $2,750 in cash.

Byron Ernest Thady, 20, switchboard man, received a gold medal and $500 for unusual service during the flood at Pueblo, Colo., on June 3, 1921, when he maintained communication while the rising river waters poured into the building. When the lights failed he improvised lamps so that the operators could remain at work. He also saved records essential to re-establishing service.

A silver medal with $250 was awarded to Robert W. Taylor, lineman, Winona, Minn., for hardening his life in maintaining telephone service during a flood.

Others receiving a silver medal and $250 were Mrs. Josephine D. Pryor, Pueblo, Colo.; Misses Lillian Elizabeth Barry, St. Joseph, Mo.; Anna Regina Murphy, Carbondale, Pa.; Verda Ray Townley, Freeport, Texas; Keshah Elizabeth Weeks, Harbors, Pa.; and Elita Wilcox, Williams, Iowa; Otis Payne, Washington, Ind.; and Alonzo Veno, Ashtland, Wis.

for, as well as by the rector and vice-rector of the college.

In his address the pope said: "National Thanksgiving! It is a noble idea in the part of four people—choosing the day for prayer. Men who lack prayer lack one of the essentials of life. Your country must, indeed, be blessed by Almighty God. In accepting an offering of 1,200 lire from the students and their superiors, he thanked them 'for the help you have given me for the suffering Russians, mowed down by pestilence, famine and misery.'"

The pope said that, through the American students, he wished to congratulate the entire American people and express his gratitude for the generosity they had shown on every occasion of need.

RED BARRON JOINS RANKS OF BENEDICTS

Jash for his bride-to-be, explaining that if they did not hurry they would be late for their train. The scene was transferred to the room to the rear of the altar.

The party included Charles W. Outlaw, the best man; Oscar G. Davis, a Tech player; Felix M. House, uncle of Miss House, who gave the bride away; Mrs. J. T. Armstrong, sister of the bride, who was matron of honor; Carter Barron, Red's brother; Miss Winifred House, sister of the bride; and Miss Mary Hammond, the bridesmaid.

Solos Are Given.

The ceremony was preceded by solos by Miss Irene Landen, and Mrs. Fred Beane. They were accompanied by Mrs. David L. Wood at the organ. The selections were effective in their appropriateness. The singers created the atmosphere one expects at a wedding.

As the last notes of the final solo died away, the strains of the wedding march started. Eyes were strained to see the bride, who preceded by the bridesmaids, entered with her uncle from the entrance to the right of the altar, while the bridegroom, and his attendants walked to the center from the opposite direction.

Three ministers, Rev. J. W. Ham, Dr. Charles L. Bass and Dr. Campbell Morgan, took their places directly in front of the altar, which was banked with palms, ferns and chrysanthemums and lighted by three candles on white pedestals.

Dr. Morgan performed the ceremony, the bridegroom placing the ring on the bride's finger after both had answered a solemn, "I will."

Forgets to Kiss Wife.

The football captain, who had faced the fire of fierce gridiron battles unflinchingly, showed marked symptoms of nervousness during the solemn rites. His great hands clinched tightly against his palms, indicating strange emotion. He spoke with appropriate hesitancy, and when the final word was said he forgot to kiss his bride.

Dr. Bass, on behalf of the Sunday school class that Captain Barron was president of, presented the bridegroom with a Bible. Just after Dr. Morgan had pronounced the benediction, Mr. Ham opened the ceremony with prayer.

The ceremony concluded, what was left of the Tech band struck up a school song, while the crowd rose to their feet, in a great ovation to the football hero. Blushing, both the bride and the bridegroom smiled recognition to the multitude that had witnessed the solemn rite.

As they started down the aisle, the band broke ranks and filed in behind the bride couple and the party. Bedlam reigned. Shouts shook the church edifice. On the street those who had not witnessed the ceremony started a noise of the altar, which was cleared the way for the bride procession. A car was waiting, but before the bride and bridegroom could reach it scores had broken through the lines, and were writing the Tech captain's hand, and showering congratulations on the bride.

The band was close behind. It gave a final flourish, and the newly-weds were speeding toward the station, where they left for Washington on a night train. After a two weeks' honeymoon, which will include a short stay in New York, Mr. and Mrs. David Barron will return to Atlanta in time for the Tech football banquet.

FORMULA FOR U. S. FOREIGN POLICY

Harvey. "They should continue to be cordial, and they shall. What more could be expected? The tone has been proposed and the response has been given. Argument is unnecessary. The assertion is accepted and the incident is closed."

But having tersely disposed of the subject of the toast, Mr. Harvey proceeded to comment at some length on the present industrial situation as it affects the United States, following the Napoleonic wars. The ambassador emphasized that although conditions now admittedly were bad, they "are vastly better, both in fact and promise," than obtained "fifteen long, dreadful years" following the Napoleonic wars.

Exchange Rate.

Speaking of trade conditions and the exchange rate, the ambassador quoted a list of figures. He declared that 20,000 pounds would buy more goods in the United States than now than 25,000 pounds would have bought a year ago. The chase of the pound sterling after the dollar had been a fascinating one, and although the pace of the pound sterling had somewhat slackened last summer, its stride had been resumed and the goal parity, although hardly within striking distance, nevertheless was in sight.

"The day when it has been reached," the ambassador continued, "will indeed be a happy day and worthy of celebration on both sides of the Atlantic. We want all peoples of the world to make money, to make our money, if they can, by work, but not by lying down or by pleading the disability of Uncle Sam's enemies. Deity in one respect, at any rate; He prefers to help those who at least try to help themselves."

United States has become what has been called a creditor nation. What of it? She was a debtor, and a very hard working debtor through many generations. It isn't a crime to be a creditor, is it? I ask you Englishmen: you ought to know. If it is, beware the hereafter.

"Great Britain has been, and as Sir George Paish demonstrated the other day, after having provided for all her obligations, still is far and away the greatest creditor nation of the world. That's right; that's as it should be. You sturdy, capable, far-seeing Englishmen have fairly earned your wealth and are justly entitled to keep it or to use it as you see fit. We quite humbly, but somewhat firmly, claim a like privilege."

filibuster, marked by many incidents, senate republicans after a caucus announced a determination to fight the democrat coup to every extreme, expressing a willingness to remain in session throughout the holiday if necessary in an effort to break the program. Observers and political students, however, look upon the announcement as nothing more than political maneuvering or a play for party support among certain elements of the suffrage franchise.

Friday, it is said, the body will permit an adjournment until Monday when the new session commences and when the ship subsidy bill will be laid before the chamber. It is presumed by practically every one that administration leaders will consent to the withdrawal of the Dyer bill from the calendar, which the democrats demand, and excuse themselves to the country with the assertion that minority members obstructed consideration of the measure, thereby relieving themselves of another campaign promise said to be highly embarrassing to the party.

Other Enemies.

But while democrat leaders have expressed a willingness to permit the body to transact business and discontinue the filibuster, it is by no means assured that administration leaders will have easy sailing during the constitutional session beginning Monday. Indications are that the purely perfunctory matters and strictly routine business, such as confirmation of pending nominations, of which there are a great number including an associate justice to the supreme court, will be all the business transacted.

Basis for the assumption is found in the declaration of Senator La Follette, progressive republican of Wisconsin, that he is prepared to carry on a one-man filibuster against the subsidy bill. Borah also has announced a bitter opposition.

Considerable doubt therefore exists over the fate of the measure. With Borah and La Follette leading the opposition, which will be joined by the democrats almost entirely, anything may happen, it is said.

Leaders At Sea.

Whether full filibuster tactics will be used depends a great deal upon the chances of the measure passing. It is said. If opponents think they have a reasonable chance to defeat it they will permit a vote; otherwise every effort will be made to delay final action until the new congress comes in, carrying with it apparently sufficient votes to insure its overthrow.

Meantime it has not fully developed to what extent the annual supply bills are involved in the proceedings. As the president will naturally influence the president in calling an extra session of the new congress immediately after next March, which the La Follette group of the senate desire, their consideration may be embarrassed. The coming week is expected to throw more light on this phase of the situation, administration leaders in the meantime being at sea over the outcome.

the manner in which the attorneys stressed the law on manslaughter led to the belief that he hoped for a verdict of voluntary manslaughter. The defense contended that it was murder or nothing.

Huling's activity as head of the Muscogee prohibition enforcement squad has played a prominent part in the evidence. Threats made against Huling by Clements, who had twice been arrested by Huling's squad on the charge of violating the prohibition law, have featured the testimony. No case in this section in years has aroused such widespread interest.

Call Officers J. W. Mashburn, Sr., and M. C. Williams reported to Police Captain W. F. Terry a collision between two automobiles at Whiteford and McLendon avenues shortly after 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, in which both cars were badly damaged.

Drivers of both machines were arrested by the officers under a charge of reckless driving. They were Dorothy Ansley, 19, of 18 Cleburn avenue, and T. A. McClung, of 224 South Pryor street. They were given copies of charges.

According to the officers' report, the collision occurred as Miss Ansley passed a street car that was standing for the purpose of discharging and receiving passengers.

RUHR OCCUPATION MAY REVIVE WAR work has been laid for a fruitful co-operation to the undying benefit of both sides.

The German financial Giant is fully aware that the French now virtually have it in their power to do what they choose with the Rhineland. But he is one of those far-seeing men of the new Germany who say "we want no war; we want peace, work and progress."

Cuno Seeks Aid.

Meantime, warned by the press and even more direct advice that the allied powers are becoming more united and bitter on the question of reparations, Chancellor Wilhelm Cuno has begun through quite desperate efforts to head off the calamity he believes would follow French occupation of the Rhineland and Ruhr. Turning to big business interests for assistance, he is looking toward a foreign loan guaranteed by them.

Stinnes, toward whom the government always turns in such situations, is expected here Friday or Saturday to consult with Cuno regarding rescue measures. It is known that Stinnes is most anxious to go to almost any lengths to avoid any further French occupation of German territory which would cripple German industry. It is not known, however, how far he is prepared to go in the matter of uniting with other industrial leaders to guarantee a loan.

new congress next March. Passage is considered hopeless after that time.

At the same time the only remaining item on the administration legislative program brought up during the present extra session, the Dyer anti-lynching bill, likewise already passed by the house, is groping with the most seriously endangered filibuster on the part of democrats seen in the senate chamber in years. That republicans will be able to even place the measure on the calendar is said to be highly improbable, which, should they do, would never result in the measure coming to a vote. Like the old "force" bill of the nineties, democrats would talk it to death, they frankly admit.

Acknowledge Defeat.

Republican leaders secretly admit this, it is said, and the caucus of Tuesday night to the contrary, they have no idea of carrying the fight much longer. Observers see in the agreement to adjourn over the Thanksgiving holiday the first break in their expressed determination to hold out to the end, an acknowledgment of defeat.

THREE NEW LIGGETT
DRUG STORES PLANNEDEncouraging Outlook for the Coming Year Given as the Cause.

Three new Liggett drug stores will be opened in Atlanta within a short time, according to announcement from D. W. Marett, Atlanta manager for the Liggett company.

Present prosperity and an encouraging outlook for the coming year are said to have caused the decision of the company to expand in Atlanta. Officials of the company express themselves as enthusiastic over the outlook for all lines of business here, and it was stated that other stores will be opened early in 1923.

The largest of three stores planned to open right away will be located at 11 Peachtree street, where the Criterion theater was formerly. Another will be opened at 839 Peachtree street, between Ninth and Eleventh streets, and the third will be located at the corner of Lee and Gordon streets.

PLAN LUNCHEON
FOR ROY HAYNES,
PROHIBITION CHIEF

State, city and county executives have been invited to attend a luncheon to be given next Wednesday in honor of Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Haynes, who will pay his first official visit to Atlanta on that day.

Sherman A. Canoe, of Washington, special representative of the commissioner, arrived in Atlanta Thursday and conferred with Federal Prohibition Director Fred D. Dismuke. Policies of co-operation between federal, state and municipal officers will be discussed at the dinner. Effective methods for checking violations will also be taken up.

Among the prominent men invited to the dinner are:

Governor Thomas W. Hardwick and Governor-elect Clifford Walker; Mayor James L. Key and Mayor-elect Walter A. Sims; Judge Samuel H. Bailey, of the northern district of Georgia, and Judge William H. Albert, of the southern district; District Attorney Clet W. Hagen, of the northern district, and District Attorney F. C. Boatwright, of the southern district; United States Marshal Marshall Walter Akerman, of the northern district, and United States Marshal George W. McLeod, of the southern district; United States Commissioner W. Colquitt Carter, Solicitor John A. Boykin, of the Fulton superior court; Dr. Charles O. Jones, superintendent of Georgia of the Anti-Saloon league; Jesse E. Mercer, of the Georgia league for law enforcement; Louis J. Bailey, of the department of justice; George E. Golding, special agent of the intelligence unit of the department of internal revenue; Chas. K. Miller, of Savannah; Division Chief Q. M. J. of Savannah; United States prohibition agents and group heads operating in Georgia and representatives of the press.

PSI PHI FRAT WILL GIVE DINNER-DANCE

The annual convention of the Georgia State chapter of the Psi Phi fraternity will open this morning at the Ansley hotel. The convention program will include, in addition to the business sessions, the dedication of the Alpha Eta chapter house at 11 East Eleventh street, and a dinner-dance at the Druid Hills club. A large attendance is expected.

The officers of the association for the ensuing year are: Dr. H. H. Williamson, president; Dr. B. Friedman, vice president; Dr. Robert E. Latta, secretary-treasurer, and Dr. Harle Parks, editor of the fraternity publication.

Funeral Services
Of Victim of Gas
Tobe Held TodayBody of Mrs. Mary Burnett
Will Be Laid to Rest in West View.

The body of Mrs. Mary C. Burnett, 38, who was asphyxiated in the bathroom of the residence Wednesday morning will be laid to rest Friday morning in West View cemetery following funeral services to be conducted from the home, 237 Winter avenue, at 11 o'clock. Barclay & Brandon will be in charge.

John Calvin Burnett, the 6-week-old boy, who was also overcome by the escaping gas fumes, Thursday was reported to be recovering from the effects.

Mrs. Burnett was found dead on the bathroom floor with the little babe in her arms by Mrs. Sarah Cleland, mother of Mrs. Burnett. The child was unconscious.

It is thought she intended to give the little baby a bath as she was burned where it is believed, she fell against the lighted gas heater. Defective piping caused gas to escape, it is said, that caused Mrs. Burnett's death. The DeKalb coroner's jury held the death to be accidental asphyxiation.

Mrs. Burnett is survived by her husband, Roy Eugene Burnett, local general agent of the Pennsylvania and Reading railroad; her infant son; her mother, Mrs. Sarah Cleland; five sisters, Mrs. G. D. Byrd, Mrs. J. D. Hinesworth, Mrs. F. S. Kinsey, Mrs. W. H. Cheek and Mrs. L. W. Lee; and two brothers, B. F. Cleland, of Atlanta, and R. A. Cleland, of Chittil, Wash.

Methodist Mission
Chiefs Will Preach
In Atlanta Pulpits

A dozen Methodist missionary experts and leading pulpits of the southern Methodist church, all of whom will speak from the Methodist pulpits of Atlanta next Sunday morning and night, will arrive here within the next 24 hours. Most prominent among those expected is Bishop W. B. Beuchamp, in charge of Methodist missions in Europe, who will preach at St. Mark's church at 11 o'clock Sunday, and at Trinity church at 7:30 o'clock that night.

Bishop Beuchamp has just returned from a tour of the mission fields of Europe, and states that the work of Protestant churches there is flourishing in a most satisfactory degree.

Dr. E. H. Ravlings, general secretary of the board of missions of the M. E. church, south, is another eminent speaker and expert who will be here Sunday to preach at the Druid Hills Methodist church in the forenoon and at the First Methodist church at night. Others to be present on Sunday will include Dr. S. A. Stewart, Dr. J. W. Perry, Dr. W. G. Gran, Mrs. W. B. Lipscomb and Mrs. J. H. McCoy, widow of the late Bishop James H. McCoy.

The purpose that brings together so many eminent preachers and missionary experts at this time is the launching of a campaign in the two Atlanta districts to continue for 30 days, in which effort will be made to raise all past-due subscriptions of Methodists in the two Atlanta districts, an amount approximating $200,000.

Among those receiving pensions in France there are 830,000 incapacitated soldiers, 447,000 widows and orphans and 473,000 parents.

How It Commends Itself for Women's Gifts---Silk Underwear

THE truly feminine woman may have a bureau drawer full of silk underclothes; but she'll always welcome the addition of a few more pieces if they're pretty like these are. These nightgowns and teddies are specially noteworthy:

SILK NIGHTGOWNS
$4.95 and $5.95

These are of heavy crepe de chine with yokes of dainty, fine Val. lace, filet lace and medallions. Some have the new boat neck; some are even trimmed around the bottoms with lace. They're unusually pretty gowns to be finding at such inexpensive prices. Flesh, pink, orchid and honeydew.

SILK TEDDIES
$2.95 to $5.95

Of crepe de chine and at the higher prices, of radium silk. They're lovely things trimmed with bands of narrow Val. lace, Val. lace criss-crossed in the yoke and medallions of filet and other laces. Some plain tailored. White, flesh, orchid, Nile, tea rose and honeydew. Strap shoulders.

'I'd Give--'

because there's something mighty appealing in the frosty brightness of metallic flowers nestling in soft furs. And I've just been looking at corsages in the Millinery Section, priced 50c to $5. And you could shut your eyes and pick a pretty one!

Work Baskets--

and know that my gift would be a delight to the girl who embroiders or the woman who had darning and mending to do for the family. I saw some lovely Chinese baskets with bright tassels and bracelets on the top for 35c to 85c. And the loveliest satin lined baskets, fitted with ivory fittings for $3.50 to $15--in the Art Needlework Section.

Beaded Bags--

for I know the thrill a woman would get when she opened the gift box and saw one of the exquisite French creations I saw in the Jewelry Section. Brocaded or printed silks with plain borders, filled with soft wool or silk down. In blue, pink, rose and tan. $16.50 to $39.50 their prices are.

Silk Covered Comforts--

if I were a mother and wanted to give something that would be greatly appreciated by my married daughter, or if I were a daughter and wanted to give something that would warm the housewife's heart of my adorable mother. Oh! such pretty ones as you'll find in the Bedding Section. Brocaded or printed silks with plain borders, filled with soft wool or silk down. In blue, pink, rose and tan. $16.50 to $39.50 their prices are.

Silver Buckle Belts--

to him, because it will tickle his vanity even though he never will admit it. And I wouldn't pay a cent more than $1.50 for it because I can get a dandy black grain leather belt with a sterling silver buckle in engine turned or engraved design at High's for that price!

An Eversharp Pencil--

for there isn't the man alive who doesn't need a pencil a dozen times a day! These have pocket clips that render them hard to lose. They're sterling silver or gold-filled and $1 to $7.50.

A Bill Fold--

of cowhide, pin seal, or Morocco, so he wouldn't have any excuse for wadding up his currency and cramming it into the pocket of his vest. And that bill fold would be a matter only of $1.19 to $6 if I went to High's for it.

ACCIDENTS MARK GEORGIA HOLIDAY

Motorcycles and Cars in Crashes as Georgians
Turn to Thanksgiving
Fetes Thursday.

Augusta, Ga., November 30.—Two motorcycle riders were injured, one probably fatally, as the result of accidents which occurred at the Fair grounds during races held there today. John Bates, one of the injured men, is in a very serious condition and Judson Flint, the other rider's condition is grave. Both of the men are Augustans.

The races which were held for amateurs, attracted many local riders, and it was in the big race that the accident occurred to the two riders. On the eighth lap of the five-mile race, Flint and Bates were leading the field, both riders running neck-and-neck.

Machine Skidded.
Flint's machine, in some manner, skidded into the machine driven by Bates, causing Flint to be heavily thrown to the ground the instant the machines met. Bates, for a few seconds, remained on his machine and then suddenly he was dashed into a post, just off the track.

The crash rendered both men unconscious and up to a late hour tonight they were still in that state. Fears are expressed for the recovery of both riders.

The accident occurred when the men were driving at a rate of speed estimated at 60 miles an hour.

THREE ARE INJURED IN MACON CRASHES.

Macon, Ga., November 30.—(Special.)—Three persons were injured, none seriously, in four automobile accidents reported today. Ivan P. Allen, a film operator at the Criterion theater, was driving his car up Cherry street when he crashed into one of the Central City Undertaking company's cars at Cherry and First streets. The undertaking company's car was overturned. Allen was bruised on the head and back, while Columbus Hardeman, the negro chauffeur of the other car, complained of an injury to his back.

Car Hits Team.
Mrs. Harrold L. Hutchinson, of the Katherine Court apartments, and a party of friends, had a narrow escape when her automobile and a wagon drawn by a span of mules, collided head on on a steep hill on the Forsyth road. The tongue of the wagon penetrated the body of the automobile. An automobile truck owned by the H. A. Kennington Grocery company, of East Macon, collided with a street car near the city hall. The automobile was badly damaged and passengers on the street car were badly shaken up, but none was injured.

John Lee King, a negro who riding a bicycle, was run down by an automobile driven by G. W. Chapman at Walnut and Third streets, the negro sustaining an injury to his head. He was later arrested on charges of being drunk and violating the rules of the road.

DISCOVERY OF NEW COMET IS REPORTED

Cambridge, Mass., November 30.—The Harvard observatory has received word by cable of the discovery of a comet by Skjellerup, the South African astronomer, at Cape Town, November 28. The comet is described as faint and the position given was in the constellation of Crater.

Telescopic photographs taken at Harvard after the receipt of the cablegram show the comet to be brighter than Baade's comet, which was recently discovered, and to be moving more rapidly. It is going southeast at a rate of between three and four diameters of the moon per day. At present it is of the seventh magnitude, somewhat too faint to be seen with the naked eye.

VESSELS COLLIDE IN HEAVY FOG

San Francisco, November 30.—The Pacific Mail passenger liner Newport, carrying 100 passengers, bound from San Francisco for Central America, collided with the steamship schooner Seven amidstships, plunging into the hold of the steam schooner off Point Solinas, 15 miles from San Luis Obispo, according to radio messages received here early today. A tug was sent out from Point San Luis to aid the ship which declined help from the captain of the Newport. The Newport was able to proceed under her own steam for San Diego. The accident occurred in a dense fog.

SKULL FRACTURED, MAN WILL DIE

Mystery Shrouds Injuries
Received by Milligan
Odom, Who Was Hit on Head by Brick.

His skull fractured, unconscious and in a dying condition, Milligan Odom, Lakewood Heights, was brought to Grady hospital at midnight Thursday, by two unidentified men, who said the patient was hit in the head with a brick. Surgeons said the man had no chance for recovery.

Before the hospital authorities had an opportunity to quiz the two men they had left the building without volunteering any information.

The police at a late hour at night had been unable to get any information on the case. They believe that the injured man was hurt in a fight.

STUDENT AT MERCER (HIT BY AUTOMOBILE)

Ernest Berch Dangerously
Hurt—Driver Fails to Stop Car.

Ernest Berch, a student at Mercer university, is in a dangerous condition at Grady hospital after being struck by an automobile as he was walking from a car at Peachtree and Baker streets.

Surgeons say he probably suffered internal injuries, and severe lacerations about the head and body. He had not regained consciousness at an early hour Friday morning. The driver of the car did not stop.

NEGRO LOSES LIMBS UNDER MOVING TRAIN

Macon, Ga., November 30.—(Special.)—James Little, a negro employee of a bridge gang on the Southern railway, lost both legs this afternoon near the Macon terminal station while trying to jump on an outgoing passenger train.

The negro apparently had planned to take the train out of Macon, and being late, climbed a fence onto the railroad right-of-way and grabbed for the handles of a coach as the train passed. He missed the handles and fell under the wheels. Doctors say he will recover.

Pal Moran Loses.

Philadelphia, November 30.—Bobby Farnett, of Clifton Heights, Pa., defeated Pal Moran, of New Orleans, in an 8-round boxing bout here today. The first three rounds were even after which Barrett took the lead.

Texas Aggies Win.

Austin, Texas, November 30.—The Texas Aggies came from behind in a touchdown which gave them a victory over Texas university of 14 to 7. The Longhorns were outplayed in the last half. The forward passing of the Aggie team proved the winning method for the Aggies.

ALLIED PREMIERS TO MEET BEFORE FINANCE PARLEY

Paris, November 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—The French, Italian and Belgian premiers will meet Prime Minister Bonar Law in London at the end of next week for a discussion preliminary to the Brussels financial and reparations conference.

If Premier Poincare has his way the allied statesmen will go direct from London to Brussels and the conference there will open by December 15. The view in French official circles is that public opinion in France will not stand for further postponement of the Brussels meeting.

The provisional moratorium granted Germany at the Paris conference ends on December 31, another reparations payment is due in January on the old schedule and the French government is unwilling to accept any temporary makeshift.

There is a disposition in France at present to consider favorably a settlement whereby Germany would be granted more time in which to pay, provided she would give productive guarantees. The opinion in political circles is that M. Poincare has committed himself so far to a program of such guarantees he will be obliged to act or resign.

The plan of penalties discussed at the recent meeting in the Elysee palace, although new only in the details of execution, is also likely to come up at the league meeting. The regret of the government at the full publicity given the Elysee meeting is said to be due to the fact that it wished to reserve the first full statement of the project for Mr. Bonar Law.

Guess Which Plea Won Boy Liberty For Thanksgiving

Chicago, November 30.—Arthur Adcock, just turned thirteen, had a Thanksgiving dinner date with his best girl, Helen Johnson.

He also had a holster and a revolver. On the strength of the gun, which he carried to school, he was arrested. Lieutenant Alex Jensen arrested him Wednesday.

"It looks like Thanksgiving dinner in jail for you, sonny," Jensen said. "It can't be done," Arthur declared. "First, I must return to my mother, and, second, I must eat that dinner with Helen, but, most important, I'm a friend of Mayor Thompson. I met Bill at the pier last summer and he gave me a quarter. He wouldn't stand for having me here."

CRIMINAL ASSAULT CHARGED TO COUPLE

San Antonio, Texas, November 30.—Charged by indictment in nine counts with criminal assault upon a 13-year old girl, A. W. Hobson, president of the South Texas Oil and Development company, and Mrs. Ella Hobson, his wife, were arrested by deputy sheriffs and lodged in the Bexar county jail last night.

Both Mr. Hobson and his wife denied any knowledge of the affair. The indictments against Mr. and Mrs. Hobson are the result of an investigation which has been in progress by the grand jury for some time.

Information concerning the alleged crime was first received from the sheriff of a county in north Texas. According to this information the girl, who is said to be only 13 years old, came to visit the Hobsons at their home here. After returning to her home in north Texas, officers say, she reported the alleged affair to her parents. The matter was taken up by the authorities there and the local sheriff's department was communicated with. Later the parents of the girl brought her to San Antonio and she appeared before the grand jury now in session. The indictments were the result.

POLICE CHIEF DIES FROM GUN ATTACK

Lake City, Fla., November 30.—Chief of Police H. A. Revals, of this city, shot last night in a manner closely resembling the methods of foreign-born feudists in the larger cities of the country, died early today of his wounds.

Revals was in an automobile parked before the postoffice when three unidentified men drove up in a small touring car and opened fire upon him with pistols and a shotgun. The officer received several wounds and his car and the building in the background were peppered with pistol bullets and buckshot.

The assassins disappeared after the shooting and nothing had been developed this forenoon to indicate their identity. Revals was unpopular with a certain element here and it had been freely rumored on the streets for several days that it was only a question of time when he would be killed.

The importance of story telling in the primary grade of the public schools throughout the country is rapidly being recognized by educators, with the result that many teachers are taking courses to become more proficient in the art.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs is having prepared for introduction in the next congress a bill establishing national marriage and divorce regulations.

G. O. P. INSURGENTS NOT AFTER PEACE

Progressive Wing of Republican Party Shows No Anxiety to Compromise With Conservatives.

Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.
Washington, November 30.—(By The Constitution Bureau.)—Efforts of administration leaders to patch up the differences between the two wings of the party with the view of presenting a united front in 1924, will be no easy task, according to statements made by members of the insurgent group.

His attitude is typical of all other senators who are willing to be classed as insurgents in so far as the term applies to a stand for liberal legislation. Senator Norris indicated that the insurgent group and farm bloc are unwilling that the advantage they gained in the recent election be wrested from them.

Since the election it has been charged from all sides that administration leaders have made numerous concessions in an effort to forestall an independent movement in 1924, which, it is said, would bring about a repetition of the history of 1912. Democratic senators have made frequent references to it, but thus far no discussion of the subject has been publicly entered into by insurgents themselves.

SLAIN BY BROTHER IN GUN ACCIDENT WHILE HUNTING

Aniston, Ala., November 30.—(Special.)—Zenas Stewart, an Aniston moulder, was shot through the heart and instantly killed at a point near Cook Springs, while rabbit hunting yesterday afternoon, the shot which ended his life being fired by accident by the dead man's brother Barn Stewart, also of this city.

Anti-Dry Leader Approves Harding Prohibition Stand

Stayton Says All Agree for Enforcement as Long as Law Exists.

Washington, November 30.—Indorsement of President Harding's stand for stringent enforcement of the prohibition laws as long as they remain on the statute books was given tonight by W. H. Stayton, a founder and national executive head of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. Although the president's stand leaves the forces of the government committed to a losing struggle, he said in a formal statement, "a way out will be found through the initiative of congress itself in amending the Volstead act."

MOTHER! BREAK CHILD'S COLD WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Hurry! Move Little Bowels with this Harmless Laxative

Whatever else you give your child to relieve a bad cold, sore throat or congestion, be sure to first open the little one's bowels with "California Fig Syrup" to get rid of the poisons and waste which are causing the cold and congestion. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works the constipation poison, sour bile and waste right out.

Even if you call your family physician he will praise you for having given "California Fig Syrup" as the laxative because it never fails, never cramps or overacts, and even sick children love its pleasant taste.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Senator Capper (Kansas), who stands with the insurgents and the farm bloc, can see no compromise or understanding. He said if the administration senators want more liberal legislation and farm relief let them get behind the insurgent measures. He frankly questioned the sincerity of many so-called administration senators regarding farm credit legislation.

ONLY 19 SHOPPING DAYS UNTIL CHRISTMAS

SILHOUETTES OF CITY LIFE

Atlanta's "wagon yards," as important adjuncts of the city in the old days as her hotels or merchandising establishments, are passing.

Like the "old oaken bucket" we sing about but never see, the wagon yards will soon be only a memory as they flourished and were known even 30 years ago.

Many a present prosperous resident of this fair metropolis first set foot on city cobblestones in one of the picturesque wagon yards.

But modernity—the same modernity that replaced the "moss covered bucket" with shining zinc mail, produced the automobile and where mule-drawn, canvas-covered wagons used to find their haven, we discover a scene resembling a garage.

Of course the chickens in their coops cackle the same and the ducks quack the same and the Thanksgiving turkeys gobble the same as they did when they had been jolted to market in more primitive fashion.

In the old days traveling 30 miles to Atlanta was an event, instead of an incident.

One day to make the trip, if the roads were good; one day spent in the city, youngsters wide-eyed and gaping at tops of the tall buildings, the elders hunting bargains and tradin' one day for the return journey.

And fall of the year was usually chosen, when cotton money was still jingling in rural pockets.

The family would be up before the cock crew. On the day previous marketable produce had been gathered, axle grease had been applied to wagon spindles, the bow frame had been anchored in place, and the "wagon sheet"—it was always called wagon sheet—pulled over the frame and tied.

Picnic provisions were piled in and forage for the stock. The animals were harnessed and hooked up. Lucky members of the household clambered up behind the driver, and before the first faint streaks of dawn painted the eastern horizon the pilgrimage had started.

The wagon yard was the hotel to these travelers, and everyone remembers his first night as a guest. Two or three guest rooms were usually all the management had thought to build, so quilts were brought along and the visitors slept in their wagons.

Tried to sleep is better. Here and by the mules and horses were munching at their corn and fodder or bumping restlessly about in their stalls. There was the glare of electric lights to unaccustomed eyes. Now and then a belated arrival changed his way in over the rough cobblestones. Freight engines wheezed and kept up a puff, puff, puff. In short, the night came hideous with its glare and noises.

In the telling back home it all grew to be great. There's no such fun now—not like that.

Seldom do we see covered wagons any more. The family hogs into the city, thirty miles or more, and before breakfast, the return trip after the theater.

But that's not the adventure of a three-day trip. The family hogs into the city, thirty miles or more, and before breakfast, the return trip after the theater.

Yet, like the "old oaken bucket," the wagon yards are passing.

Two brothers, John T. Bakus, 78, and Garfield F. Bakus, 77, died within 24 hours of each other, at their home, 53 Queen street.

John Bakus died Wednesday morning and Garfield Bakus died Thursday morning. A double funeral will be held from the chapel of Barclay and Brandon Streets at 10 o'clock.

Rev. William J. DeBardeleben officiating. Interment will be in Oakland cemetery.

The brothers, with a third brother, Mance Bakus, had been engaged in the contracting business for nearly half a century. Both were pioneers in Atlanta. It is said that John Bakus laid the first brick in Atlanta when the city was called Marthasville. The Kimball house and other important landmarks were built by the brothers.

Besides Mance Bakus they are survived by two sisters, Miss Sarah Bakus and Mrs. L. D. Goodin, Sr. Garfield Bakus is also survived by two sons, John and James Bakus, and one daughter, Mrs. Rosa Collins.

WORKERS NEEDED TO HELP RESCUE TAG DAY DRIVE

Workers who will take part in the tag day campaign for the benefit of the American Rescue workers will meet Friday afternoon in the Arcade building to receive supplies of tags, buckets and be assigned to posts, it was announced Thursday.

A lack of workers was still reported Thursday, and everyone who can possibly spare a few hours for this work Saturday is requested to call Mrs. W. O. Ballard, Hemlock 4571-W, or report at the meeting in the Arcade building Friday afternoon.

Those taking part in the drive are members of the Debutante club, Junior league and the Witches' club. They are under the direction of Mrs. T. T. Stevens, general chairman of the campaign committee.

Christmas dinners for the poor will be bought with the proceeds of the Saturday campaign. Baskets of food, warm clothing and other things to cheer the hearts of unfortunates will be purchased and distributed at the Christmas season according to the plans of the campaign directors.

Another wonderful day, just like Thanksgiving, is promised Atlantans so far as the weather is concerned. C. F. von Hermann, meteorologist in charge of the local weather bureau office, stated Thursday that Friday would be the same as Thanksgiving was, fair weather with moderate temperatures.

No rain or cold weather is in sight for Atlanta, he stated, and December will be ushered in like the proverbial lamb.

Mrs. Felton Tells Why She Is Happy Thanksgiving Day

Former Senator Describes Reception Given Her in Washington.

BY PAUL JONES.

Carterville, Ga., November 30.—(Special.)—"I am thankful for the strength that enabled me to pass through events of the past few weeks and to be alive and in good health this splendid Thanksgiving day."

These were the words of former Senator Rebecca L. Felton, who spent a quiet Thanksgiving day at her little home in Carterville.

Upon being admitted to her sitting room, where a flood of telegrams and correspondence had piled up since the distinction has been conferred upon her of being the first woman United States senator, Mrs. Felton was easily led by the writer to assume a reminiscent mood during which she told in a most interesting way of some of her experiences in Washington.

It will be remembered that Mage Carter shot and killed Sheriff Robertson, of Blackshear, about one year ago and was tried in the Pierce county superior court, was convicted and sentenced to hang. A motion for new trial was filed upon a plea that it had been discovered that relatives were on the jury. Requests for a new trial and a change of venue were granted, and the case was assigned to Wayne county superior court.

The jury was secured about noon and the examination of witnesses was begun immediately after the noon recess. The court recessed late tonight until tomorrow at 8 o'clock.

The jury trying the case follows: W. A. Furr, K. W. Mathis, J. W. Stanfield, J. W. Murphy, J. T. Ivey, M. H. Westberry, T. O. Matson, J. W. Robertson, C. A. Shell, G. W. Reddish, C. D. Westberry and M. E. Pyle.

The State Board of Education of California has granted Miss Blanche Hawkins of the University of California, a certificate authorizing her to teach the art and process of whistling in the public schools. This is the first time in the history of education that such a certificate has been granted.

Speaking of her recent experiences in Washington and the many entertainments that were given in her honor by famous men, Mrs. Felton told in her characteristic way of how she "got herself up" for one of the highly fashionable dinners that was tendered her by a Georgia senator.

Flooded With Flowers. "When I got to Washington," said she, "they just flooded me with chrysanthemums. I received more than a ton of flowers of the most magnificent kind were sent me. Why, they came in such profusion that the only thing I could do with them was to send them to one of the hospitals for sick soldiers."

"When I was asked by Senator Hoke Smith to dine with him and others at the Sherman, 87 years old as I am, the question of 'what to wear' came up in my mind. You know, I could not be flapperish, and I decided that I would wear a black silk dress that I had had for many years. It was old, but it was handsome and that, with some old rose tinted lace, I sent me my friend from London. I decided was just the costume for me. I did up my own hair, and put on the old black silk dress, adorned with the lace. It was like a breath of the old south and the senators and others seemed to like it."

During the recital of her latter-day conquest, the black eyes of the famous Georgia woman who won with the brilliance of her younger days, and she evidenced the fact that she still retains some of the inherent weaknesses of her sex as she said, with a smile of pride, "And I tell you, I made a hit."

CROOKS' ACTIVITIES ARE NEGLIGIBLE THANKSGIVING DAY

Forty-six cases were docketed at police headquarters Thanksgiving day, which police officers said was a negligible "black business." The majority of the arrests made were for minor offenses.

Ten of those arrested were charged with being drunk, three of whom were college students. Three were arrested for being under influence of whisky while operating an automobile. Five students were "sent in" for drunken charges of disorderly conduct, three of these from a downtown hotel.

Police Chief James L. Beavers, anticipating that the pickpocket would be active during the day kept a large reserve of uniform men and detectives on duty, both at the football game at Grant field and on the streets in the downtown district.

"I am glad the day was quiet," Chief Beavers said, but added, "We were prepared, however, to give crooks a 'run for their money'."

DOMESTIC FARCE TO BE PRESENTED BY JEWISH CLUB

The production, which was directed and produced by Mrs. M. S. Foote, is the first of a series which will be staged during the present season.

The intermission will be featured by "The Unexpected Return," and short sketch, said to be brim full of action. Those who will be seen in variety numbers, featuring Miss Elsie Wall and Garfield Eishberg.

Mrs. George Donovan Dies at Residence After Brief Illness

Mrs. Elizabeth Donovan, wife of George R. Donovan, vice president of the Atlanta National bank, died at the residence, 21 Porter place, Thursday, following a brief illness. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, and will be announced later.

Mrs. Donovan before her marriage was Miss Elizabeth Sutherland, of Scotland. She had lived in Atlanta for many years and was one of the most highly esteemed women in the city.

Due to the brevity of Mrs. Donovan's illness, and the unexpected end, none of her relatives, except those of the immediate family living in Atlanta, were present when she died.

Besides her husband, she is survived by one son, Jack Donovan; two brothers, John Sutherland, of San Carlos, Arizona, and Howard Sutherland, of Chicago, Washington; one sister, Mrs. William B. Miller, of Seattle, Washington.

George Evans, although totally blind, leads all scholars in the Hyde Park High school, Chicago. Evans uses an ordinary typewriter and writes out his lessons.

CARTER ON TRIAL IN LIFE APPEAL

Slayer of Sheriff, Under Sentence to Die, Begins Fight to Avoid Supreme Penalty.

Jesup, Ga., November 30.—(Special.)—The famous Mage Carter case, which was transferred from Pierce superior court to Wayne county superior court, was begun this morning at 8 o'clock in the Wayne county courthouse, with Judge J. H. Highsmith presiding as judge and Memory, of Blackshear, and Spencer, of Waycross, and Gibbs, of Jesup, representing the state and James B. Thomas and J. W. Walker, of Jesup, representing the defendant, Mage Carter.

It will be remembered that Mage Carter shot and killed Sheriff Robertson, of Blackshear, about one year ago and was tried in the Pierce county superior court, was convicted and sentenced to hang. A motion for new trial was filed upon a plea that it had been discovered that relatives were on the jury. Requests for a new trial and a change of venue were granted, and the case was assigned to Wayne county superior court.

The jury was secured about noon and the examination of witnesses was begun immediately after the noon recess. The court recessed late tonight until tomorrow at 8 o'clock.

Furious Storm Injures Score On Big Liner

Steamship President Wilson Arrives at Port After Terrific Experience on Atlantic.

New York, November 30.—Swept forward by an 120-mile-an-hour gale, waves which swept over the bridge and threw spray over the funnels crashed through port holes and doors of the steamship President Wilson Tuesday, and brought injury to a score of her passengers and crew.

Captain Roberto Stupich, commander of the vessel in today from Trieste, said the storm was the most furious in his experience.

The storm began Monday, but did not attain its greatest fury until Tuesday morning. One of the big waves stove in port lights, wrecked a glass of two-inch thickness in the bridge, injuring Captain Etore Zar, former commander, and battered down a door leading to the main salon.

It swept a half score passengers before it, flinging them down the vessel's guard staircase. Commander G. B. Bernardelli, royal Italian navy, and Miss Clara May Frank, of Washington, received severe injuries.

Captain Zar came here to take command of the steamship Martha Washington, formerly of the Austro-American line, which was seized for transport service during the war. He commanded the ship for four years before the war.

ANNOUNCE MERGING OF SAVANNAH BANKS

Savannah, Ga., November 30.—(Special.)—The Citizens Trust company of Savannah and the Mercantile National bank, it was definitely announced today, have been merged, the latter to be operated as a branch of the former. Hugo Frank becomes president of the combined institutions, it is announced.

PLAN MORE SUITS ON CAMP MAKERS

Additional Civil Suits, Involving Twenty to Thirty Millions, Preparing at Justice Department.

Washington, November 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—Additional civil suits involving $20,000,000 to $30,000,000, which the government hopes to recover for alleged overcharges and waste in connection with the construction of certain army cantonments during the war, are being prepared by the department of justice and, it was understood today, probably will be filed within ten days.

The first of the department's civil suits against war camp contractors were filed last week and it was understood then that they were the forerunners of other actions. It also was indicated that criminal proceedings were possible.

The actions brought last week involved the construction of Camps Upton, Sherman, Jackson and Punston and sought the recovery from the involved constructing companies of more than $20,000,000. Cantonments built during the war cost the government a total of $208,000,000 and it is said Attorney-General Daugherty hopes to recover between $30,000,000 and $80,000,000 as overcharges.

Preparation of the civil suits has been under the direction of Roscoe C. McCulloch, a special assistant to the attorney-general, who is a member of a special house committee, made an extensive investigation several years ago of alleged war frauds, particularly those relating to army camp construction.

During the past week Mr. McCulloch, with a corps of assistants, has been before a special federal grand jury, called into session here to consider alleged war time frauds. No information has been obtained from either Mr. McCulloch or the attorney-general as to the nature of the evidence being presented to the grand jury here, but it has been strongly indicated recently at the department of justice that Mr. Daugherty was determined to make an exhaustive investigation of alleged war frauds with a view to instituting criminal action as well as civil suits against alleged offenders.

Fire Death Near, Family In Macon Saved By Phone

Calls to Phone in Night Arouse Crockett Household to Danger.

Macon, Ga., November 30.—(Special.)—The handsome residence of Roy Crockett, president of the Georgia Banking company, of Macon, located at 1008 Ridge avenue, Ingleside, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. The loss is estimated at approximately $15,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Crockett were in the living room chatting with friends when the telephone rang. Mr. Crockett, in answering the telephone, heard the roar of flames. He gave the alarm and the family and guests barely had time to leave the house before the roof collapsed.

They saved only a small portion of the furnishings.

BIG CIVIL DOCKET FOR DEKALB COURT

Decatur, Ga., November 30.—(Special.)—DeKalb superior court will open the December term Monday, with Judge John B. Hutchison presiding. The civil calendar, including 68 cases, will be taken up at the first part of the term, which will extend over a period of two weeks. Thirty-four cases are docketed to be presented to the grand jury, which also convenes Monday. Solicitor General A. M. Brand will represent the state. The criminal docket comes up the second week of the term.

House-Barron Wedding Is Event of Great Interest

A marriage of widespread interest in the north and south in social and athletic circles was that of Miss Alice Evans House, of Washington, Ga., and David Irenus Barron, which took place Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the Baptist tabernacle, directly after the close of the mid-week service.

The wedding was the charming bride and Mr. Barron, who is well known throughout the state for his football prowess, and is beloved by all of the Tech student body as the captain of the team, made the wedding one of the outstanding events of the Thanksgiving season.

The ceremony followed after the Tech-Auburn game and was witnessed by a large company of friends, assembled in the tabernacle for the impressive ceremony.

The altar of the tabernacle was beautifully decorated with statuary, palms, white and yellow chrysanthemums, and white and yellow chrysanthemums. At each side of the altar were candelabra holding white tapers which burned softly, and stood in relief against the effective background.

The Reverend Charles L. Bass, lifelong friend of both families, performed the ceremony.

The wedding music was rendered by the choir and a large chorus. Mrs. J. T. Armstrong, of Macon, sister of the bride, who was matron of honor, wore a gown of black crepe trimmed in beads. She carried salmon-colored roses and white sweet peas.

The bridesmaids were Miss Winifred House, sister of the bride, and Miss Mary Hammond. They wore black velvet gowns with white chrysanthemums and white chrysanthemums. The groomsmen were Oscar Davis and Carter Barron, brother of the groom.

Charles Outlaw acted as Mr. Barron's best man.

Lovely Bride. The lovely bride who was given in marriage.

Dance Will Honor Visitors On Friday

The Club de Vingt will entertain Saturday evening at a dancing party in honor of Miss Martha Sprattling and Miss Pauline Sprattling, of Macon, who are the Thanksgiving guests of Miss Ann Spaulding at her home on Spring street.

The dance will be one of the lovely events of Thanksgiving week. The chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. Roy Collier, Mr. and Mrs. James Haine, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Harris, Dr. and Mrs. Stephen Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Shelden and William Spaulding.

Fraternity Luncheon At Daffodil

On Friday, December 1, the Atlanta Alumni association of the Phi Delta Theta frat. together with the active chapters at Georgia Tech and Emory university, will entertain their ladies at a luncheon. The luncheon will be given at the Daffodil tea room at 1 o'clock.

marriage by her uncle, Dr. A. J. Merritt, wore a handsome traveling suit of black cloth fur trimmed, and a hat of blue and gray taffeta. Her flowers were bride's roses, showered with valley lilies.

Wedding Journey. Mr. and Mrs. Barron left immediately after the ceremony for a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., New York and other points of interest, and on their return will be at home to their many friends at their new home on Willard avenue in West End park.

Prominent Families. The charming bride is a graduate of the class of 1920 of the State Normal school, in Athens, and her former home was in Clarksville, Ga., before moving to Washington, Ga., for residence. She has been a member of the faculty of the East Point public schools for two years. She is a daughter of Mrs. Winifred House and the late John W. House. Her mother, also a graduate of the State Normal, is now home demonstration agent for Wilkes county. She is a member of the U. D. C.

Mrs. Barron is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Jones of Clarksville. Her grandfather fought through the civil war, entering the service at 16 years of age. She has endeared herself to a wide circle of friends by her winning personality and lovable traits of character. She possesses great magnetism and is unusually pretty.

Mr. Barron attended the Monroe A. & M. school, Monroe, Ga. After graduating he came to Tech in 1918. His first year he made the varsity football and basketball teams. He is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, Bulldogs Kappa and Alpha clubs of Tech. He was president of the class in 1920. Also on the Y. M. C. A. cabinet and student government. Mr. Barron is captain of both baseball and football teams. He has also made his track letter two years. He is prominent in the social and athletic world.

The Atlanta Alumni association of the Phi Delta Theta frat. together with the active chapters at Georgia Tech and Emory university, will entertain their ladies at a luncheon. The luncheon will be given at the Daffodil tea room at 1 o'clock.

This will be the first of a series of entertainments to be given by the local Alumni association of Phi Delta Theta. Similar luncheons will be held monthly in honor of the lady friends of its members.

The officers of the association request that all members of Phi Delta Theta be present with a lady friend and especially all members that have recently moved to Atlanta. The luncheon will be from 1 to 2 p. m. and as there will be no lengthy discussions, even the busiest Phi Delta will be expected to attend.

Prizes and favors will be given to the ladies. These luncheons will not interfere with the weekly luncheons which are held every Friday at 1 o'clock at the Daffodil.

Mrs. Warner Honors Guests.

Mrs. Charles Jenkins Warner was hostess at a family dinner party Thursday at her home on Blue Ridge avenue. Covers were laid for fourteen, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John C. S. of Georgia and present chairman of the Masonic home, committee, was entertained Monday afternoon at tea at the Wineoff by the executive officers of Gate City chapter. Mrs. Haley, worthy matron, gave a toast and cordial welcome to the honor guest, to which Miss Atkins responded in a charming manner. She is well-known in other states as well as throughout Georgia. It was a very pleasant affair, bringing together a congenial group of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Inman Honor Miss Anne Grant

The tea-dance with which Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hamilton Inman honored their niece, Miss Anne Grant, the debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Grant, Thursday afternoon at the Piedmont Driving club, was a brilliant and beautiful affair assembling 250 guests. Not only was this event notable because of the families around which it centers, but because it is the first tea-dance of the season at which any of the debutantes have been introduced, and because it revives something of the former festive spirit always characterizing an afternoon dancing party. It is the first of a series of brilliant social compliments which will mark the entrance of Miss Grant into society and precedes the formal debut party at which she will be introduced by her parents, December 27, at their handsome home on Pace's Ferry road.

The driving club was particularly lovely Thursday in its decorations which were of white and yellow chrysanthemums. Mr. and Mrs. Inman stood in the loggia between the ballroom and the lounge to receive their guests. Miss Grant stood with them and in the receiving line were Mrs. John W. Grant, her mother; Misses Jennie Robinson, Douglas Paine, Miss Shelden, Emily Nixon, Louise Inman, Sarah Orme and Marianna Goldsmith. Handsome palms and foliage plants formed a background in front of which they stood.

Beautiful Decorations. The ballroom, always a lovely room, was further enhanced by many beautiful palms which banded the walls and lifted their green leaves quite to the orchestra loft at the entrance. Down the long sides of the ballroom there was an arrangement of palms at the base of each one of the slender white pillars. Against the green foliage tall baskets filled with yellow and white chrysanthemums tied with bows of white and yellow tulle made gay spots of color and beauty. A bright log fire burned in the great open fireplace at the end of the ballroom where the decorations of palms and ferns were repeated. The high mantle held in the center a French basket of wicker filled with the same lovely yellow and white blossoms.

The tea table was placed in front of the fireplace and from this tea was served during the afternoon and while dancing went on. Beautiful silver baskets filled with yellow and white daisy chrysanthemums placed at intervals along the oblong table alternated with silver candlesticks with yellow candles, and with silver comports filled with yellow and white mints. All of the lights in the ballroom were softened with yellow silk shades and festooned with smilax. Dancing began at 5 o'clock and continued until 8 p. m.

Handsome Gowns. Mrs. Inman's gown was a handsome afternoon model of Persian velvet fashioned with the prevailing long and graceful lines. With this she wore a green velvet hat.

Mrs. Grant was beautifully dressed in black georgette combined with chiffon of the new and unusual petal shade. A black velvet hat completed the costume.

The young debutante, Miss Anne Grant, wore a youthful and becoming frock of light gray silk crepe trimmed with flowers of gray velvet and topped with a black velvet hat wide of brim and trimmed with ermine.

Receiving Party. Miss Louise Inman wore black chiffon with trimmings of silver cloth. Miss Sarah Orme's smart frock was made of gold-colored charmeuse combined with a bodice of Persian embroidery and trimmed with brown fur.

Miss Marianna Goldsmith was becomingly gowned in pink chiffon with a trimming of lovely lace.

Miss Emmie Nixon's gown was of black panne velvet with old-blue silver metal cloth trimmings.

Miss Douglas Paine wore a black velvet dress with the long bodice and wide skirt, just appearing in the advanced styles, and finished at one side with a smart bow of red and gold brocade.

Miss Mary Shelden was gowned in chiffon-velvet of fuchsia shade and trimmed with sable. This was topped with a close-fitting hat of gold metal cloth.

Miss Jennie Robinson wore black velvet with a short coat of ermine and with a toque of the same fur to match.

Wingo-Pickett Wedding Is Church Event

A beautiful event of Wednesday evening was the marriage of Miss Kathleen Wingo to Smith Davenport Pickett at the First Methodist church in Memphis, Tenn.

Smith Pickett is a prominent Atlantian and his many friends throughout the state will be interested in his marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Pickett will be at home at 149 East Seventeenth street after December 20.

Mrs. Hague Speaks To Marietta Club.

The music section of the Marietta Woman's club held an interesting meeting on Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Mary L. Benson on Atlanta street, with Mrs. Leland Smith, chairman of the music section, presiding. Mrs. H. E. Hague, president of the Woman's club, gave a brief address on club work in which she included a short report of the meeting of the state federation at Athens, and told something of the work and plans of the Tallulah Falls Industrial school for mountain boys and girls, which is owned and maintained by the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

At the conclusion of the program tea was served.

An all-American program, featuring folk song and dances, will be given at the next meeting, the particulars of which will be announced later.

Hebrew Orphans' Aid to Meet Today.

An important meeting of the Hebrew Orphans' Aid will be held Friday morning at 11 o'clock in the library of the home on Washington street. All members are urged to attend.

Miss Miller Weds Curtis Sewell.

The marriage of Miss Louise Miller, of Lancaster, Texas, and Curtis Sewell, formerly of Cave Spring, Ga., now of Iowa Park, Texas, took place in Lancaster, at the home of the bride.

Mr. Sewell is superintendent of the oil producing in Iowa Park, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Sewell, of Cave Spring.

Miss Haverty Is Honor Guest.

Miss Katherine Haverty, lovely debutante daughter of J. J. Haverty, was honor guest at a dinner-dance at the Capital City club at which Dr. Charles P. Hodge entertained Thanksgiving evening.

About fifteen guests completed the party.

M. RICH & BROS. COMPANY

—Know ye, good people, that December is here, which means that Christmas is near. Hang a holly wreath around your heart, and light your eyes from a Christmas candle. Drape your pocketbook with Christmas bells and try to look as cheery as Santa Claus. You'll be sure to do the latter as soon as you begin your Christmas shopping at Rich's.

Gift Ribbons, $1 for One Yard

—Do you lisp? Then don't try to read this aloud for it's about "Streamers of Shimmering Silks." You will think there is going to be a Maypole dance around every Christmas tree in the South when you see the people thronging around our gift ribbons. Unless you want a ribbon negligee or pillow or lampshade or something (I wonder if they won't be making furniture of it next), you had just better not hang up your stocking for the loveliest $3 and $4 and $5 ribbons are going at $1, and nobody is passing them by, especially when they learn that we are tying bows and sashes and rosettes simply for the fun of doing things for people.

Feather Fans for Warmth $5.95 to $29.75

—it matters not how short the coal supply or how frivolous the evening frocks, or how icicle-draped the prophecies of Mr. von Herrmann, you'll need a feather fan. In fact, you'll need one all the more. I have known feather fans to make warmth (of heart), and costumes, and charm, and character—there's deep stuff there—see if you can get it. But by all means get a feather fan or two. If you haven't much money, you can find a very successful one for $5.95. It will be fifteen inches long and may be almost any color. Those at $9.95 are still more lovely, and one from the collection offered at $29.75 would certainly waft the breath of life itself to one Cleopatra were her tomb not so unfortunately inaccessible.

Pink Hyenas

No doubt are giggling furtively somewhere in the "Forest of Unborn Animals," but every other bird and beast—I truly believe—is here, in our Toytown. If you're fifty-five, going on a hundred, you'll certainly be on your knees Christmas morning renewing your friendship with the late Noah's pets. So you might as well come on in and select gifts for the kiddies that you can enjoy, too. A visit to Toytown is likely to create the impression that the Barnum-Bailey-Ringling winter quarters have been moved to Rich's Basement. Perhaps they have!

Creamy Milk

DAIRY MEN'S LEAGUE

STERILIZED—UNSWEETENED EVAPORATED MILK

From inspected herds

As long as these cows live in New York State

There are approximately 1,000,000 cows in New York State. Most of them are owned by 70,000 farmers whose life-work is to care for these cows, to enable the cows to produce good, pure milk, under clean, pleasant conditions.

The "milk business" in the New York territory is a big institution which is in comparatively small units because of its very nature.

These farmers are the Dairy Men's League Co-operative Association, Inc. They own the cows, the farms, the milk plants. They sell fresh milk, evaporated milk, condensed milk, and other dairy products. They have an interest in the production of milk all the way through, from the cow to the store. They are in business to stay. Therefore they will sell nothing that is not good and of a definite standard of quality.

When you buy Dairy Men's League Evaporated or Condensed Milk today, tomorrow, and next year, you can be sure that it will be good and that the standard they have set for all their products will be maintained. As long as there are 1,000,000 cows in New York State—the "Dairy State"—there will be milk to sell and of a quality that is rigidly set and maintained.

Storekeepers who sell Dairy Men's League products can also be sure that they are developing sales on a permanent basis—that they are creating sales for goods that are backed by a big, reputable business.

Miss Whitehead Hostess At Dancing Party

A very delightful event in the service of Thanksgiving parties was the dance given Thursday evening by Miss Eloise Whitehead, at her home in West End, commencing at 8 o'clock.

Streamers of white and gold, yellow chrysanthemums and white roses decorated the pretty home.

All the details of decoration carried out the Tech colors of gold and white.

The hostess was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. O. C. Whitehead.

Miss Whitehead wore a becoming gown of silver cloth over which pastel shades of georgette were effectively draped, making a long waist and a wide, full skirt. At her waist was a silver rose.

Mrs. Whitehead's handsome costume was of dark blue Canton crepe, heavily beaded.

Music was furnished by the Jazz Four orchestra, of Atlanta.

Mrs. Virgil Ector, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Whitehead, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Cox, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Spence were chaperons.

The guests included: Miss Julia Trent, Miss Mary Hamilton, Miss Lucile Cain, Miss Lucile Isth, Miss Dorothy Moody, Miss Mayne Hilliard, Miss Frances Turner, Miss Helen Allen, Miss Katherine Redwine, Miss Blanche Dickens, Miss Lucile North, Miss Louise White, Miss Lucile North, Miss Louise Watts, Miss Fannie Watts, Miss Bertha Mae Owens, Miss Mildred Partridge, Miss Minnie Sharp, Miss Dorothy Turner, Miss Elizabeth Harty, Miss Evelyn Rawlins, Miss Edna Rawlins, Miss Mary Irwin, Miss Elizabeth Irwin, Miss Martha Irwin, Miss Lettie Nichols, Miss Ada Nichols, Miss Mildred Hardy and Grady Holbrook, Julius Collins, R. L. Chapman, Dave Smith, Clifford Smith, Bill Polley, George Branner, Hubert S. Sheppard, Joe Massey, Helian, Joe Chaste, Jack Moss, Ted Wee Dunn, Sidney Yancy, Joe Carr, Frank Woodford, Woody Fushell, Lloyd Solomon, John Ward, Fred Cox, Walter Edwards, Tip Mitchell, J. L. Wheeler, J. G. Jones, Marion Hogan, Paul Wilkes, C. McArthur, George Butler, John Shirey, Mr. Shirling, Dan Threlk, Ori Jenkins, Mr. MacWinn, Ed Fair, Bob Woodbury, Logan Thomas, Gordon Thomas, Red Iyer, Adrian Maurer, Wendell Crowe, Tom Forrest, Harry Taban.

Fine Arts Club Meeting.

Mrs. E. W. More will present a most delightful program for the Fine Arts club this afternoon at the Piedmont Driving club at 3 o'clock. She has been very fortunate in securing the assistance of the most thoroughly equipped people in their different spheres.

A talk on American art will be given by the eminent portrait painter, Nicholas R. Brewer.

Mrs. W. C. Spiker will speak on the "Syncretism of the Arts" and will be ably assisted by the Spiker players.

The remarkable Batiks of Koroly Tulop will be on display and the method employed in their making described; also an exhibition of portraits by Mr. Brewer and landscapes by Henry Leith Ross, of Woodstock, N. Y., after which tea will be served and there will be a harp solo by Mrs. Lucian Parent.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Stewed Tomatoes.
Add a slice of onion to tomatoes when first put on to stew. It can be removed before thickening the tomatoes but the flavor will remain.

Washing Glassware.
When washing fine glassware put it in the hot water edgewise. If put in bottom first it is apt to crack from sudden expansion.

When Purchasing Galoshes.
The heel is an important thing to consider when buying galoshes or galoshes. The most satisfactory solution is to buy those with medium heels, as they can be worn with either high or low heeled shoes. A rubber heel can be inserted in the heel of the galoshes if they do not exactly fit the particular pair of shoes you are desirous of wearing.

MAKING YOUR BID

BY JOHN R. BOWKER

Today's Rule—Do not lead suit that both adversaries can trump.

Q. Is it advisable to always pull trumps when you get into the lead if you are the declarer?

A. It all depends whether you have got the established suit between the two hands or if you are the dummy have some losing cards which should be ruffed up. If so, do not pull the trumps but ruff off all you can and then proceed to lead trumps. Generally speaking, most auction players do not start trumps quick enough but allow the adversaries to make some of their small trumps by ruffing. Handling trumps and knowing when to lead them requires a lot of experience, and only experts can judge these right.

Q. West bids one spade. North bids 3 hearts. East bids 3 spades. South holds Ace, 9, 6, of hearts; Queen, 10, 8, 5 of spades; Ace, King, 7 of diamonds; 9, 6, 4 of clubs. What should South do?

A. South should bid 4 hearts as it is a sure game. It must be a peculiarly split hand and probably North has not no spades.

Q. I deal and pick up the following cards: King, Jack, 10, 5, 3 of hearts; Ace, Queen, 9, 5, 4 of clubs; King, Queen of diamonds; 7 spot of spades. Should I bid a heart?

A. It is on the border line. Therefore, I would bid a club. If partner goes no trump, then bid 2 hearts. If your partner bid a spade, you could then bid one no trump. In this way you get the best bid of the two combined hands. If you bid a heart originally your partner would probably let you stay in, and if he did not have one of the other honors, possibly you could not go game on the hand.

Q. South bids one spade holding these cards: Ace, King, Queen, 10 of spades; 9, 8, 6, 5, 4, 3 of hearts; 7 spot of diamonds; Jack, 9 of clubs. The north hand bids one no trump and east hand bids 2 diamonds; south hand bids 2 hearts; north bids

2 no trump and east 3 diamonds; South overbids with 3 hearts. What should North do holding Jack, 9, 4, 3 of spades; King, Queen, Jack of hearts; Ace, King of diamonds; King, Queen, 7, 6 of clubs?

A. North should let the hand be played at 3 hearts as it is surely a game hand.

Q. Dealer bids 1 heart which I have doubled and partner bids 2 clubs and is overbid by the dealer with 2 hearts. What should I lead holding the following cards? Spades, King, Jack, 9, 5; hearts, Jack, 9; diamonds, Ace, Jack, 7, 3; clubs, King, Jack, 6.

A. Lead the Jack of hearts. Your partner's bid was a forced one and you might lead right up to the Ace, Queen, of clubs. The trump lead will do no harm and will make the declarer develop his own hand.

John R. Bowker will answer any questions on Auction our readers mail him. Be sure to enclose stamped, return envelope. Address, John R. Bowker, care The Constitution.

Sewing Club Will Stage Bazaar at Mrs. Thornton's

A bazaar will be staged at the home of Mrs. Albert Thornton, Jr., 35 East Fifth street, all day Tuesday, December 5, which will be given for the benefit of the Atlanta Child's home, and sponsored by the Tuesday Sewing club, composed of a coterie of prominent members of society, including Mrs. Andrew Calhoun, Mrs. Phinixy Calhoun, Mrs. Frank Fleming, Mrs. Edwin F. Johnson, Mrs. Frank Boland, Mrs. Vaughn Nixon, Mrs. Frank Adair, Mrs. Cobb Caldwell, Mrs. Edward Inman and Miss Nellie Hightower.

Sterilize Baby's Nose

Nose and throat specialists have perfected a very mild and agreeable sterilizing salve called Eucapine, especially designed for the mother's use with her croupy children. It seems that Eucapine is the only non-poisonous germicide that will effectively destroy the catarrh germ which causes colds, croup, sore throat, etc.

Physicians explain that young children are unable to blow the nose and that the secretions accumulate, become irritating, insurmountable and literally swarm with catarrh germs, which have a tendency to spread to the throat, internal ear tubes and lungs, causing earache, deafness, adenoids, enlarged tonsils and even favoring pneumonia. Physicians are urging mothers to keep the children's noses and throats sterilized with Eucapine, both as a preventive and as a cure. It is said to be very pleasant and the older children soon learn to call for it by name and doctor themselves when they feel a cold coming on.

NOTE: The product referred to above is put in family jars, with full directions, and may be had at any drug store for a half dollar.—(adv.)

The Atlanta Child's home is one of the most worthy charitable organizations in the city, and the different circles, composed of interested Atlanta women are making a great effort to help build a new home, as the quarters are quite inadequate to accommodate the number of children who are entered at the home at present. It is the object of the home to keep both mother and child together, so that there will be no pang of separation. Oftentimes children whose mothers are dead are placed there by their fathers and are cared for until they can be either taken by their parent, or else placed in some home when they are beyond the age cared for at the Atlanta Child's home.

Mrs. Phinixy Calhoun is vice president of the home and is chairman of the arrangements for the bazaar. The friends of the Atlanta Child's home are invited to the Tuesday Sewing club are invited to patronize the bazaar on Tuesday.

Visitors Will Be Honored Saturday

Dr. and Mrs. Homer A. Davis will compliment Miss Edna Bradley, Miss Rosalie Brown and Miss Rachel Mc Masters, of Asheville, S. C., at a reception Saturday evening at their home in Druid Hills.

Invited to meet these young women will be members of the Emory chapter of the Sigma Chi fraternity, and an equal number of college girls.

Carol Singers Have Planned Big Events

Most encouraging were all the reports read at the meeting of the Carolers' association Wednesday afternoon at Phillips & Crew hall.

The president, Mrs. W. A. Albright, has been working with the carolers ever since they were organized some years ago, and she is highly grateful for the extended interest that is being shown in this noble charity.

Mrs. R. S. Pringle, chairman of costumes, has a large number of assistants who are making 500 new costumes. J. R. Nix, of the Arcade Building's cafeteria, has loaned the use of power sewing machines, and the Parent-Teacher associations will make the costumes.

The Enterprise Film company will run a scenario in the moving picture theaters during Christmas week and all the theaters will co-operate toward the success of the fete.

L. W. Rogers grocery company will distribute 30,000 copies of the carols to be sung, and Miss Kate Harshon will supervise the teaching of them in the schools.

Mrs. Charles Love reported that the daily press is in thorough sympathy with the work and would give prominent notices from day to day.

Mrs. Loh G. Bishop, the corresponding secretary, was enthusiastic over the co-operation of all who have offered to form groups and also reported over forty towns in the state where the carolers are to sing. On Saturday afternoon, December 23, from 5 to 7 o'clock for the benefit of the Georgia Children's Home society.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday afternoon, December 12, at Phillips & Crew hall, when the final arrangements and signing of the territory for the singers will be arranged.

Hostesses at Dinner Party

Mrs. R. C. Henderson and Mrs. Frank Jacoby entertained a number of friends at dinner on Thanksgiving at Mrs. Henderson's home.

Miss Milledge Weds Mr. Woodward At Quiet Ceremony

Of widespread interest in Georgia is the marriage of Miss Adeline Milledge, of Decatur, and Douglas Lawley Woodward, formerly of London, which took place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. J. H. Montgomery, in St. Charles avenue. The ceremony was witnessed by the family and a few very intimate friends and was performed by the Rev. Thomas Johnston, the dean of St. Philip's cathedral.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, John Milledge. She wore a three-piece tailored gown of blue Poiret tulle with a becoming hat of blue velvet trimmed with coque feathers and her carriage bouquet was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

An informal buffet supper followed the ceremony, at which the table was ornamented with tall slender silver vases holding pink roses and flanked with silver candelsticks holding pink tapers.

The bride is the daughter of Captain and Mrs. Richard Habersham Milledge and is a descendant of several of the families who are the makers of Georgia history. Her great-grandfather, Captain James Habersham, came over from England with his brother, Joseph Habersham, and aided General Oglethorpe in the founding of the colony. One of her great-grandfathers was among the founders of the University of Georgia and decided to the state land upon which the university now stands.

Her great-grandfathers, James Habersham and John Milledge, were both governors of Georgia.

In the war between the states her father and her uncle, the late Captain John Milledge, long state librarians, were both officers in the confederate army. She is also related to the Elberts of South Carolina and the Greshams of Waynesboro, and Baltimore, Md.

The groom, formerly of London, Eng., has made many friends since coming to Atlanta, and holds a responsible position with John Roebing & Sons Co.

The young ladies invited were: Miss Edna Bradley, Miss Rachel Mc Masters, Miss Rosalie Brown, all of Asheville, S. C.; Miss Julia Jansson, of Franklin, Miss Elizabeth Harris, of Savannah; Miss Mary Conn, of New York; Miss Aime Harris, Miss Sarah Flowers, Miss Annette Carter, Miss Evelyn Sheffield, Miss Sarah Spiller, Miss Grace Miller, Miss Emmie Picklen, Miss Catherine Vignaux, Miss Margaret Vignaux, Miss Margaret Perry, Miss Dorothy Joyner, Miss Emma Laura Westley, Miss Dorothy Smith, Miss Nancy Linchum, Miss Margaret Garwood, Miss Mary Brown, Miss Anne Davidson, Miss Catherine Johnson, Miss Mary Ella Smith, Miss Mildred Mason, Miss Lella Kirkpatrick, Miss Lilian Clement, Miss Sarah Bigham, Miss Sara Sanders, Miss Sarah Carter, Miss Mary Norris, Miss Emma Frances Brotherhood, Miss Thelma Cytum, Miss Genevieve Flowers, Miss Marion Phillips.

The Emory chapter of the Sigma Chi fraternity entertained last evening at a theater party in honor of several visiting girls who were in the city to attend the Tech-Auburn football game. After the theater the guests enjoyed supper at the Colonial tea room, where a delightful musical program was given.

Chaperoning the party were Dr. and Mrs. Homer A. Davis, Dr. and Mrs. Franklin N. Parker and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hastings.

The young ladies invited were: Miss Edna Bradley, Miss Rachel Mc Masters, Miss Rosalie Brown, all of Asheville, S. C.; Miss Julia Jansson, of Franklin, Miss Elizabeth Harris, of Savannah; Miss Mary Conn, of New York; Miss Aime Harris, Miss Sarah Flowers, Miss Annette Carter, Miss Evelyn Sheffield, Miss Sarah Spiller, Miss Grace Miller, Miss Emmie Picklen, Miss Catherine Vignaux, Miss Margaret Vignaux, Miss Margaret Perry, Miss Dorothy Joyner, Miss Emma Laura Westley, Miss Dorothy Smith, Miss Nancy Linchum, Miss Margaret Garwood, Miss Mary Brown, Miss Anne Davidson, Miss Catherine Johnson, Miss Mary Ella Smith, Miss Mildred Mason, Miss Lella Kirkpatrick, Miss Lilian Clement, Miss Sarah Bigham, Miss Sara Sanders, Miss Sarah Carter, Miss Mary Norris, Miss Emma Frances Brotherhood, Miss Thelma Cytum, Miss Genevieve Flowers, Miss Marion Phillips.

The story is inspiring and helpful and Miss Lewis' interpretation was wonderfully true and forceful. A charming personality, skill in portrayal and keenness of appreciation make her readings most attractive and her visits ever delightful to the Normal school.

Beautiful Party To Be Given Saturday.

A children's party for the benefit of St. Anthony's church will be given Saturday, December 2, at St. Anthony's Parochial school, in Gordon street, West End.

Promptly at 2:30 o'clock the candy pulling will begin, followed by games, a peanut hunt and story telling.

A "fish pond" and "doll table" will be added attractions.

Homemade cakes and candies will be on sale.

Dinner-Dance at East Lake Is Thanksgiving Event

A formal dinner-dance of the Thanksgiving season was given last night at the East Lake country club. The club was elaborately decorated, southern snailax draped gracefully about the walls and chandeliers.

Artistic French baskets filled with yellow chrysanthemums tied with yellow tulle were placed on the individual tables around the outer edge of the ballroom.

A congenial party dining together were Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Harmon.

Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Sanford and Martine Harmon.

At A. Maier, Jr., had as his guests Misses Dorothy Holdwick, Isabelle Hunter and Amille Emmonman.

Others entertaining guests were: Captain F. T. Fere, A. V. Lewis, E. B. Worley, J. F. Rawls, Jr., W. H. Brittain, W. W. Ware, Fred Dickey, M. E. E. B. Wynn, J. T. F. Garry, H. K. Lucas, L. G. Bulldog Dance Is Event of Social Interest

One of the most delightful social affairs enjoyed by members of the college set was the dance given Thanksgiving evening by the Tech Bulldogs at the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity house.

The chaperons for this occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis, Major and Mrs. A. L. Pondleton and Major and Mrs. R. T. Gibson.

This popular chapter house was elaborately decorated with autumn foliage and bronze-colored chrysanthemums.

At 9 o'clock a delicious buffet supper was served.

The young women invited were: Misses Cullie Orme, Mary Tuller, Martha Fort, Edith Hall, Florence Borkin, Doreen Pogram, Dorothy Bryant, Irene Thomas, Emily Davis, Maxine Gresham, Corine Rice, Theodore Owens, Mary Hill Bloodworth, Cornelia Dorrance, Mildred Bawel, Harriet Paine and Josephine Bagwell.

Sigma Chi At Emory Give Theater Party

The Emory chapter of the Sigma Chi fraternity entertained last evening at a theater party in honor of several visiting girls who were in the city to attend the Tech-Auburn football game. After the theater the guests enjoyed supper at the Colonial tea room, where a delightful musical program was given.

Chaperoning the party were Dr. and Mrs. Homer A. Davis, Dr. and Mrs. Franklin N. Parker and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hastings.

The young ladies invited were: Miss Edna Bradley, Miss Rachel Mc Masters, Miss Rosalie Brown, all of Asheville, S. Miss Lewis Delights Athens Audience.

Athens, Ga., November 30.—Friday evening Miss Evelyn Lewis, formerly teacher of oratory at the State Normal school, now of Atlanta, gave a most enjoyable reading of Frances Hodgson Burnett's "The Dawn of a Tomorrow" in the auditorium of the Normal school.

The story is inspiring and helpful and Miss Lewis' interpretation was wonderfully true and forceful. A charming personality, skill in portrayal and keenness of appreciation make her readings most attractive and her visits ever delightful to the Normal school.

Psychologists To Meet on Sunday.

The Atlanta Psychological society, Mrs. Rose M. Ashby, president, will meet Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the mahogany room of the Ansley hotel.

The subject of the lecture will be "Telepathy and Thought Forms." There will be questions and answers on current psychological topics.

The meetings of this society are constructive and up-to-date on all psychological and kindred topics. All who are interested in psychology and metaphysics are cordially invited to attend.

AUBURN TIGERS BATTERED INTO DEFEAT, 14 TO 6

Georgia Tech Still Reigns Supreme on Dixie Gridiron

JACKET WIN
IMPRESSIVE
---GEORGE

Fumble Responsible for Auburn's Lone Marker. Tech Earned Hers on Sustained Attack.

BY HOMER GEORGE.
Georgia Tech won a hard fought battle yesterday at Grant field, when the Jackets turned back a real threat from the Plains, defeating Auburn Tigers 14 to 6 in the game that meant the southern gridiron championship for the winner.

Two touchdowns scored after sustained attack, in which practically every weapon used in modern football was called upon, gave the Yellow Jackets their points, while the Tigers turned a recovered fumble into a touchdown in jig time during the fourth quarter.

Tech played her game and her game is superior to that of Auburn. She had more team work, a greater variety of plays and executed her forward passes more brilliantly than did Auburn. Altogether it was a fit tribute to the system of coaching at Tech.

Brilliant individual playing by members of both teams marked the contest. If anything Auburn made her greatest gains by individual playing. But old Tech was there with the mighty team wallop. It took a team wallop of superior strength to get those two touchdowns for Auburn.

Tough stubbornly and to great effect, but she simply could not resist Alex's players.

Early in the game it looked as if Tech was going to make a touchdown, but that stubborn defense of Auburn held inside the five-yard line and turned Tech back. Tech retaliated by holding Auburn on the seven-yard line when the Auburn rooters were in high hopes of a touchdown.

But Tech could not hold the Auburn onslaught when their final great chance came following that fumble.

Magnificent Crowd.
It was a magnificent crowd which witnessed the game—by all odds the largest that ever saw a game in the south and it was a game which was worthy of the magnificent assemblage.

It was hard for Auburn but the old story of superior team work coupled with brilliant individual play turned the trick for the home crew and sent the greater number of rooters home happy.

It is easy enough to pick out individuals who played wonderfully. Barron, McDonough, Brewster, Hunt, John Staton, Claire, Frye and others of the Tech crew starred, but I would rather give the great credit to team work where it belongs. Mighty team work, too, it was on both offense and defense. Line and backfield played with a co-ordination of effort that simply lifted the game to the highest possible plane. Especially was this true of the offense.

On the defense the play of the individuals was possibly more marked than on offense but time after time the old team-play thing stopped the hard-running, fierce playing backs of the Auburn crew. Frequently the entire play was simply doubled up without a gain by the simple expedient of going down and smothering interference and everything before the back could get to the line.

Auburn played a magnificent game and showed more stuff than at any time this year when against real competition. Her game was a great improvement over that played against Georgia. She used a greater variety of plays and had more power to her drive. In fact, she had a terrific power in that drive yesterday and only the finest and most brilliant playing by the Tech crew stopped her.

Time after time she would fool Tech and was always threatening—especially in the first quarter.

Shirey was a power that stood out immensely for Auburn, though Shirey showed more stuff than in any game I ever saw him play. Both these big fellows had a go about them that took extreme power and skill to stop. Several times it looked as if they had smashed by Tech ends or through the line and were on their way when Tech's great secondary defense came crashing forward. Oh, it was beautiful to see this kind of work.

Line Not as Good.
Auburn's line was not as good as Tech's and it was this fact which gave Tech the victory as much as the backfield players, who seemed to stand out for individual rewards. Tech forwards opened holes and tore through in magnificent form. Lots of times they failed, of course, because of the stubborn Tiger defense.

Fumbles were frequent in the game, both sides suffering in this respect, but it was Tech who got hit the hardest by such a play. Brilliant Jimmy Brewster dropped the ball on his fifteen-yard line and it was this that gave Auburn her chance. This time Auburn was not to be denied, either, for she went into the line with a vim as if they were possessed and in a few plays smashed through for their touchdowns, falling to kick goal.

Tech made her touchdowns by taking the ball down the field and smashing away from start to finish with a mixture of plays which was beautiful to watch. Auburn kept her three yards three times, as she tried to stem the tide. It took the fourth down inside the three-yard line to get the ball across.

The judgment of the quarters was possibly not good, but why question this, because who can tell the difference of a team from the grandstand. Altogether it was a great game before a great crowd. A great team won a victory and a great team went down in defeat. There was glory enough.

Grid Action, Sponsors and Wedding Present

TRIMS W. & J.

Morgantown, W. Va., November 30.—For the first time in its football history, West Virginia university today had played through a season without a defeat as a result of its victory over Washington and Jefferson college, 14 to 0, here this afternoon.

There was no scoring in the first two quarters. Early in the third period West Virginia opened an irresistible attack that resulted in a touchdown. Eckberg kicked the goal.

In the fourth period a forward pass from W. and J.'s 16-yard line went over the goal line to Simon for a touchdown. Eckberg kicked goal.

MADISON AGGIES BEAT
LOCUST GROVE, 20 TO 6

Madison, Ga., November 30.—(Special.)—The Madison A. and M. football team completed its season by defeating Locust Grove institute here today, 20 to 6. The Locust Grove boys scored the first touchdown of the game in the second period, on two successive forward passes. Madison scored third quarter on successive line bucks by Shockley Allen and Few.

Madison again counted in the fourth quarter, making two touchdowns by the air route. Allen made the extra points both times by kicking. McCoy and Davis played the best ball for L. G. L. while Moore, Few, Shockley and Dillard were best for Madison.

Kansas Aggies Win.

Manhattan, Kan., November 30.—Texas Christian university, representing the southwest, was swamped by Kansas City Agricultural college of the Missouri valley conference on the Ahearn field here today, 45 to 0. The game was slow and listless.

In the second half the Aggies crossed the goal line for the first score in five plays. Three kick-offs by Texas traveled more than 65 yards to be brought back and put into play on the Aggie 20-yard line. Three times the Kansas squad marched the 30 yards to a touchdown in less than eight plays.

The southwestern line was smashed repeatedly and the Texans' players were off their feet in the final period.

TRAIN FAILS TO STOP CRACK
RUNNER

Detroit, November 30.—A freight train, backing slowly across Second Boulevard and blocking the course over which the annual ten-mile race of the Irish-American Athletic club was being held, failed today to halt Schou Christensen, of the Illinois Athletic club. Climbing between the cars with three other contestants, he continued the race and won in one hour, one minute and two seconds. His time was eight minutes faster than the record set by R. J. Connelley in 1921. He won the event.

DARLINGTON WINS
OVER ROME HIGH

Rome, Ga., November 30.—(Special.)—The annual football game between the Darlington school and the Rome High school was featured today by a punt punback for the full length of the field by Fred Shamblin, Darlington's halfback and captain. The final score was 25 to 2 in favor of Darlington. The attendance was the largest ever known at a football game in Rome, more than two thousand persons being present.

Besides Shamblin's long run in today's game, he made a 50-yard run for the first touchdown and Prim made the other two for Darlington, one on a tackle buck for 25 yards and the other on an intercepted pass. The beautiful interference of the Darlington team assisted greatly in accomplishing this result.

MIKE O'DOWD
WINS FIGHT

New York, November 30.—Mike O'Dowd, of St. Paul, won on a foul in the eighth round of a scheduled fifteen-round bout here today with Dave Rosenberg, of New York. Rosenberg was disqualified for hitting low after two minutes and 20 seconds of fighting in that round. O'Dowd was leading by a wide margin when the bout ended.

The judges' decision awarding the bout to O'Dowd gives him the recognition of the New York state athletic commission as world's middleweight champion.

BARRON
FEATURE

Closely Watched, Barron and Shirey Responsible for Most of Territory Annexed by Teams.

BY PAUL WARWICK.
A battered and glorified old football season, prowling around for an honorable place to die, could not have chosen a spot more fitting to his achievements, nor an atmosphere more splendid in which to stage his last dramatic activities than Grant field, Thanksgiving afternoon, while Georgia Tech was winning one of those tooth and toenail, blood and also thunder, nip and likewise tuck contests from Auburn by the count of 14 to 6.

The Tigers made a titanic attempt to breast the fury of Coach Alexander's most destructive young tornado, but were beaten back in the main, consistently. Auburn rose to mighty heights in the first moments of that melodramatic struggle, and scared the living daylight out of those who had wagered their income on the outcome. But the field had hardly been turned upside down for the second quarter before Tech rubbed her eyes and found herself.

A full sextet of Tech stars were indulging in their last combat for the Gold and White and they played with the zeal they would have put in many games to come—had there been games to come. Captain John Shirey and Ed Shirling were thrusting their last for a retrieved like Donahue—and never played two more dynamic and powerful halfbacks.

Immense Throng There.
The flags had waved and the eagle had screamed over the magnificence of the contest while it was pending. And not one verbal flag flutter nor eagle screech should be recalled, for the occasion was as splendid as had been predicted. The 25,000 component parts of that largest crowd ever to see a southern football game might have shared gloom and joy alike over the final summary, but there are none who do not admit this morning that they got good returns on the money invested on seats or standing room.

All the scoring was done in the last three periods. The first period went to Auburn, for when John Shirey first got his hands on the ball he ripped off a dash for 15 yards. John in this quarter did Auburn have a chance to score, twice were these chances smeared by the Tornado line and secondary defense to exist with the ball in Auburn's possession on Tech's 15-yard line, in fact. Then Shirey's failure to penetrate the line and three grounded passes gave the ball to Tech, which crew did nothing but march straight to Auburn's 3-yard line, there to be held for downs. Auburn was soon forced to punt, however, and Red Barron's nice return of Shirey's 31-yard kick put the ball on Auburn's 38-yard line—whence a steady march by Jimmy Brewster, Red Pinky Hunt and Jack McDonough, aided by a beautiful catch of a forward pass by John Staton, carried the ball over for the first score of the game. McDonough carried it over. Brewster acquired the extra point.

Another for Tech.
The next was added in the third quarter, when Tech secured the ball exactly in the middle of the field, which seems to be a propitious spot for securing the ball. Shortly after came the time when it took 4 yards to gain each first down for Tech. The first touchdown had been made on the fourth down, with goal to gain. A grounded pass, a no-gain through the line, 3-4-5 yards by Barron and 1-5 of a yard by Hunt had it on Auburn's 27-yard line. It took four more downs to take it to Auburn's 16-yard line. It took four more to take it to Auburn's 5-yard line. The backfield was splitting the burden, with Red being a bit more successful than the rest.

It took four more downs to carry the ball over. Red's second lunge being a jack-knife dive that couldn't have been stopped by a cement wall. Jimmy, as unconcerned as if he had been playing Boys' High, deliberately added a point. That finished the scoring for Tech.

Never was there so much fight in the breasts of twenty-two men. But it was Auburn's time before the fourth quarter had gone very far along the path to history. Auburn's last act in the third quarter was to punt over Tech's goal line, Red wisely letting the oval roll as it listed. The last period opened with the ball Tech's on her own 20-yard line. A triple pass was attempted—and somebody fumbled.

Auburn's Eyes on Ball.
The whole Auburn team recovered it.

Howe went in for Scott, who had replaced Ford, and the stands looked for a drop kick, since Howe had looked out at the field from the 40-yard line in practice. But the reality ran something like this: Shirey 6, Shirey 3, Shirling 2, and the ball would have been on Tech's 4-yard line if there had been a 4-yard line. Shirey speared through to the 6-inch line. Ed Shirling took it over and Moulton failed to kick the goal. That was all the scoring, but not half the story.

When either team held the upper hand, by George, they held it. Auburn looked dangerous in the first quarter, as has been hinted, so they made three first downs to the Tech's 4-yard line. In the second and third quarters, Tech played Auburn entirely and completely off their feet, consequently Auburn did not make a single first down in either of these quarters. Tech made eleven in the second quarter and six in the third. Auburn gained eight yards in the second quarter.

All Auburn Again.
Then, just to show that there was still some spirit left in the old soul and some muscle on the old carcass, Auburn returned in the final period. They scored, and not only that, they made five first downs to the one that Tech could garner.

Nevertheless, the recapitulation shows the thing up rather clearly. Tech made twenty-one first downs and Auburn eight, and the general verdict that the Alabama victors

Charlottesville Eleven Unable to Hold Lead Gained in Second Period

North Carolina Scores Field Goal in First Quarter, But Virginians Shoot Across A Touchdown in the First Half.

Charlottesville, Va., November 30.—The University of Virginia went down to defeat today before its traditional gridiron rival, the University of North Carolina, on Lambeth field by the score of 10 to 7. There was no upset unless the slim margin by which the visitors triumphed could be classed as such, for even among the most ardent supporters of the Orange and Blue it was conceded that the Tar Heels held the advantage in the game. The contest, regarded for years as the Thanksgiving day football classic of the Southeast, was a hard-fought battle, with the Tar Heels leading for most of the first half and the Orange and Blue leading for most of the second half. The game was a tactical battle, with the Tar Heels leading for most of the first half and the Orange and Blue leading for most of the second half. The game was a tactical battle, with the Tar Heels leading for most of the first half and the Orange and Blue leading for most of the second half.

First to Score.—Blount booting a field goal from placement after eight minutes of play in the first period. The score came after Virginia had fumbled within the shadow of its goal posts and a Tar Heel warrior smothered the ball. Neither side seriously threatened in the remainder of that period and honors were about even. However, in the second quarter a penalty of 15 yards led to Virginia's touchdown. The penalty put the ball on Carolina's five-yard line and that was followed by a punt that went over the side line at the 24-yard mark. On the first play, Blount broke through the Carolina defense and romped over the goal line.

for the first touchdown. Feunick added the extra point.

This seemed to arouse the fighting spirit of the North Carolina clan, for on the kickoff, after McGee had fumbled, Johnston scooped up the ball and raced through the entire Virginia team for 60 yards before McCoy, the only obstacle between the runner and the Virginia goal, brought him to earth by a desperate tackle. This play marked the turning point of the game for thereafter most of the play was in the Virginians' end of the field and only by the grimest kind of battling could they stave off more touchdowns for the Tar Heels. The game came in the last quarter after much see-sawing and punting. Carolina finally got the ball on Virginia's 35-yard line. Line backs netted five yards and then McDonald hurled a pass to Johnston for a gain of 30 yards and a touchdown. There was considerable confusion among the spectators as to whether he had scored or been forced out of bounds, but it developed he had scored. Blount made the extra point with a placement kick squarely between the bars.

Near Virginia Goal.

For the rest of the period, played in the gathering twilight and the smoke from a trash fire on a hill overlooking the stadium, the play was close under the Virginia goal posts at all times, but Carolina lacked the final punch to push over another touchdown. For the Virginians, Maphis, Arnold and Walp were the outstanding figures, while for the Carolinians Johnston and McDonald carried off premier honors, with P. Morris, Merritt and McGee ably assisting them.

A summary of the offensive work of the teams shows Carolina made just double the number of first downs registered by Virginia, 14 and 7, respectively. Those made by Virginia represented chiefly line plunges, while half of the Tar Heel total were successful forward passes. In which branch they excelled, Virginia had the better of the exchange of punts in the first three periods but with the retirement of Maphis in the last quarter.

TECH STILL SUPREME ON DIXIE GRIDIRONS

for all and all deserve all the honors which can be heaped on them.

The Statistics.

Tech's victory over Auburn can best be explained by the statistics of the game which reveal some interesting facts.

In the first place Tech did not kick off a time and Auburn kicked off five times for a total of 235 yards and those kicks were returned a total of 104 yards, mostly by Barron of Tech.

Another interesting fact of the game is that the great Shirey outkicked Jimmy Brewster of Tech only one yard for an average in seven punts. Tech and Auburn were each forced to punt seven times.

In the matter of punts returned Auburn had the advantage and Captain Shirey returned four of the punts for a distance of 64 yards. Tech only returned one punt, and that for a distance of five yards. In returning the punts Tech showed headwork in many cases in which the ball fell dead. The Auburn end were right after the kick and would have thrown Barron, who played safety, in his tracks. Most of the punting was well-placed on both sides. Several times each punter would kick the ball out of bounds near the goal line.

Tech fumbled three times and recovered one of those for a first down. Auburn did not fumble a single time. The forward passing has much to do with the game, and Tech, for Tech, for they completed four for a distance of 58 yards. Auburn only completed three for a distance of 28 yards. Tech failed in four attempts to pass and Auburn failed nine times.

An individual observation of the ground gained by each man shows Captain Barron to be leading, with 88 yards to his credit from the line of scrimmage in 17 attempts. Brewster was close behind, with 86 yards in 13 attempts. McDonough ran with the ball 17 times and gained only 40 yards but his gains were just over the line on the fourth down. Hunt ran with the ball 11 times and gained some 30 yards.

Ed Shirling of Auburn ran with the ball 11 times for a distance of 52 yards and Captain Shirey ran 9 times for a distance of 56 yards. Ford ran three times for 16 yards and Gibson failed to gain a yard. Allen gained only one yard in one attempt.

In the second and third quarters Auburn failed to gain a first down. In the second quarter Auburn had the ball one time and failed to gain a yard during their possession of the ball. In the third quarter Auburn gained a total of only 15 yards and only once were the gains over three yards at a time and that was for six yards when Shirey carried the ball.

In running with the ball the Auburn burden was left in the hands of Captain Shirey and Ed Shirling. They gained all the 125 yards with the exception of 17, and Ford and Allen made these. Neither Gibson nor Peterson gained an inch of ground although they ran with the ball several times.

Captain Irons, of Alabama Team, Wins 4-Mile A. A. U. Road Race

Stokes, Captain of Atlanta Athletic Club Team, Finishes Second—Tech Wins Team Trophy.

BY HERMAN D. HANCOCK.

George Irons, captain of the Alabama team, won first place in the Southeastern association of the American Athletic Union in one of the most spectacular four-mile races ever seen in Georgia yesterday afternoon. The race was held between the halves of the Tech-Auburn game. The Yellow Jacket team from Georgia Tech won the team prize by scoring 12 and as a result were awarded the Adair trophy by Al Doonan, Irons' time was 17 minutes 24 seconds. Auburn finished second with 42 points and the Atlanta Athletic club, third, with 56 points.

From the beginning of the race Irons held the lead and even though Stokes, captain of the Atlanta Athletic club, nosed out into a very substantial second place after a sprint which carried him past Howard, of Georgia, who finished third. Irons started with the lead and never once during the race was that place threatened by any other runner. Captain Daves, of the white and gold team, won fourth place.

The Birmingham Athletic club, which was to enter a team, did not appear. No reason was given for the non-appearance of the team which had been expected to score in the southern race to defend the club.

And Stokes, who was out to avenge his defeat at the hands of Irons, clearly showed that he has not been keeping the training which he used to keep while training at Emory. His supporters expected to see him avenge his defeat, but after exerting himself he was only to be able to finish up second in the tally list of the judges.

Tech's Fine Work.

Captain Daves sent his men in in squad formation 't such a degree that none of the other teams could get an opportunity to cut down the team marginal score. The five men on the Tech squad who receive team medals are Captain Daves, Mitchell, Moore, Roberts and Barton. Only two men of the Tech team will receive individual medals. They are Daves and Mitchell.

The first 15 men to complete the runs in the order named were: Irons, Alabama; Stokes, A. A. C.; Howard, Georgia; Daves, Tech; Mitchell, Tech; Foster, Alabama; McIntosh, Auburn; Stockbridge, Auburn; Moore, Tech; Jenkins, A. A. C.; Roberts, Tech; Boyd, Auburn; Barton, Tech; Lee, Auburn; and Cooper, Tech.

The entries were:

Alabama—George V. Irons, R. Costen, H. B. Cooner.

Auburn—C. P. Boyd, captain; F. Stockbridge, J. W. McIntosh, E. F. Del Hogue, T. P. Lee, M. M. Collins, R. S. Whelan, L. C. Perry.

Georgia—J. Howard, W. Lunde, C. Metcalf, C. Langford.

Georgia Tech—H. P. Barton, R. J. Cooper, P. G. Daves, captain; T. H. Mitchell, H. A. Moore, L. Roberts, C. P. East, C. A. Strohman, L. W. Johnson, G. Boyle, P. Namour.

Atlanta Athletic Club—L. Graydon, E. B. Heywood, M. H. Harper, R. Eubanks, E. F. Fleming, W. L. Jenkins, T. Carleton, G. Enloe.

Petrels Fail to Hold Advantage And Go Down Before Chattanooga

Atlanta Team Defeated, 13 to 9, After Twice Getting Out in Front—Maurer Is Star.

BY HERMAN D. HANCOCK.

The field goal came easily, an intercepted pass and a 20-yard run by Maurer, putting the ball in kicking distance. Chattanooga came back at once. After receiving the kickoff, Anderson smashed along the side line for 30 yards but fumbled as he was tackled. Campbell got the ball. On the first play, Maurer fumbled and the same Anderson got the ball and ran 37 yards to the 13-yard line before he was downed. He made a touchdown in four bucks. Two pretty punts by Morris and a twenty-yard run by Maurer put the Petrels close to the U. C. goal late in the period. The visitors backed for one first down and sailed the ball with a pretty forward pass to David on the nine-yard line, but then the locals held. In the third period, Morris ripped off a 60-yard punt and after a penalty put the ball right on the goal line; Williams, for Chattanooga, punted short. Maurer made the touchdown with a 13-yard run, putting Chattanooga ahead, 9 to 6. Soon after this, Morris kicked over the goal line for another touchdown and it seemed a far cry to a Chattanooga victory.

Oglethorpe scoring: Touchdown, Maurer; field goal, David; Chattanooga scoring, touchdowns, Anderson, Redd; punt after touchdown, Cate; referee, Powell (Wisconsin); umpire, Conway (Sewanee); head linesman, Rike (Ohio Wesleyan); time of periods, 15 minutes each.

The first city troop, of Philadelphia, Pa., the oldest military organization in continuous existence in the country, recently celebrated its 145th anniversary.

Petrels Led Twice.

The Oglethorpe team led twice during the game and it seemed certain that they had won until early in the fourth period when Goldstein crashed through the center of the line and blocked a punt, making the ensuing forward pass of 37 yards to Redd good for the winning touchdown. If the punt had been gotten past—Morris was kicking them high and long—the ball would have been far up field, too far for the Moccasins ever to have brought it back. Even after Chattanooga took the lead, the Petrels started an aerial attack that had them nervous.

The visitors' aerial play was a constant threat throughout.

Maurer, the Petrel star, played a flashy though somewhat erratic game. He was off to long runs on more than a dozen occasions, his gains varying from 5 to 30 yards. Several times he was all but hauled away and it took the hardest kind of tackling, including several of the flying variety, to keep him from getting clear. On other occasions he fumbled and stumbled and was stopped. It was his fumble that led up to the first local touchdown, but he evened the count by a 13-yard sprint for a center in the third period. Captain David played a good defensive game and kicked a field goal from the 37-yard line in the first period. All the Petrel backs did well but the line never got going, notwithstanding a stream of substitutes.

The Constitution's Novel-a-Week MADAM WHO

BY HAROLD MacGRATH

Next Week, "The Hillman"
By E. Phillips Oppenheim

"Indeed, Armitage, you'll be there. I wouldn't have you miss it for anything. I thought you had that ten-spot. We'd give game ends."

"So it does!"

Armitage's hand flew across the table with the quickness of an adder's strike and seized Morgan's pistol. He drew back with equal rapidity.

"Stir or make a sound, and I'll kill you, Morgan. You know it. If I have to die, you'll go with me or before me."

Jeanne in the doorway—impelled irresistibly to return—pressed a book against her heart. She had picked it up at random, without thought or purpose.

Morgan stared at the round, black muzzle of his revolver; he was paralyzed by the unexpectedness of the coup.

"Call to the sentry to come around and enter the room," commanded Armitage. "Mind the tone!"

The moment the sentry started to obey the command, Armitage drew back his hand and savagely struck Morgan behind the ear. Then he leaped from the window just as Jeanne hurried her book at the candelabrum, accurately!

When her arm was strong again, she determined to return to the West. To learn for sure the name of the man who had married her had now become an obsession; she must know or go mad.

She had not the slightest faith in Armitage's statement. He was not the man; she was so absolutely sure of this that no shadow of doubt regarding it ever entered her head. But what if only he had spoken the truth? If only she had married him!

So, adroitly yet simply disguised, Jeanne entered Washington once more in spite of the grave risks, in spite of the imminent dangers. She found an obscure but respectable boardinghouse and lived there quietly.

Lowell, one of the eleven whom she had met with Armitage, she wrote a letter.

It was a letter which would naturally arouse the curiosity of a man like Lowell. He took it to Kennedy, who studied it for a few moments; then passed it over to Armitage.

"What do you think of it, son?" he asked.

Armitage read:

"Lieutenant Charles Lowell: 'Will you do me the honor to call if I give you explicit directions how to find me? I have something to say to you which vitally concerns us both.'"

"Address: W-X, general post office."

"What do you think of it, Parson?" countered Armitage. His voice was normal, his hands steady.

"I should tear it up and give it no further attention," Kennedy yawned. "It may be some woman who wants you to get her hubby or brother or son a job in the war office. The town is full of them."

"Good advice," agreed Armitage. "Tear it up, Charlie. Remember, you two are to dine with me tonight at 8. I'm off."

Once in the street, Armitage pushed back his hat and wiped his forehead. What should he do? How should he act?

Lowell started to tear up the note when Kennedy stayed his hand.

"No. Answer it; keep the appointment. It's a trap, I'll be close at hand. If it's only a political angle—well, I'll still be close at hand. And say nothing to Armitage about it."

"On the following afternoon Lowell was admitted to a modest house in the middle-class district. The light in the room was not very good; but presently he saw the figure of a woman, her back to the window.

"I am Jeanne Beaufort," she said quietly.

"Good heaven!"

"I brought you here to ask a question. Who was the man I married that night? Sometimes it seems as if I were going mad! I am a proud woman. She sank to her knees suddenly.

"See, on my knees I ask you! The name, the name!"

He shrunk back. She caught his hands and clung to them desperately.

"Why in the world should you care? The man did not even touch your hand. You exaggerate the affair. Any court will annul it."

"Is he living or dead?"

"I have sworn to never reveal that man's name. But it was not I who married you, or I would break one by one, all the oaths a man might swear to claim you as my own."

He tried to lift her up, but she hung back, a dead weight.

"You shall have twelve hours to which to leave the city—twelve hours and no more. Gently he freed his hands. 'Goodbye, Jeanne Beaufort; and God take you back safely to your lines.'"

He passed out into the street. For to notice Lowell's preoccupation. An idea took form and grew in his feverishly bright mind.

Lowell had seen Jeanne Beaufort! The name was like wind upon glowing coals; his hate grew white-hot. It was hatred which had no logic. At her feet he laid the death of six gallant men.

Jeanne Beaufort was Parson Kennedy's objection, and he proposed to be rid of it that night, once and for all.

The moment he left Lowell, he put his idea into action. He would trap her by promising to give the name of the man she married (for no doubt that was the reason for her seeking Lowell); he would use Lowell's name besides.

Oh, she would come to that old attic where she and Morgan had exchanged their bits of information.

It was moonlight outside. Kennedy and his men waited in the dark. They were all squatting on the floor in order to prevent the slightest sound. As Jeanne entered from the left, came the scrape of a match. It flared. She beheld a huge hand, and her fascinated glance ran up the arm to the face above.

She stood face to face with Parson Kennedy.

"All's fair in love and war," observed Kennedy. "Love for women and war for men. Well, Madam Who, what have you to say?"

"There really isn't much to say, is there?"

"You once tried to murder my soul; my body is nothing."

Parson Kennedy frowned. He wanted to humble this creature, to wring tears from those unflinching eyes, to bend her to her knees, to see her hands held out in passionate supplication; he wanted nothing less than that.

"I was a rare fool that night. I should have shot you."

"I gave you back your life once."

"Ha! But why? To save Armitage?"

"Hands up! The first man who turns dies!"

The voice came from the wall behind the clustered troopers. Two of them dropped their muskets, startled. Kennedy, looking over the heads of his men, beheld a ravening doorway and a man in front of it. Two revolvers were leveled steadily in his direction. The stranger wore a mask.

"I have 12 bullets, and when I shoot, it will be to kill. Take up that revolver from the table, girl. Now step back toward me. Men, stand aside a little, but take heed not to turn. Quick, girl!"

Jeanne was obeying his orders. She drew back from the troopers, who moved aside for her but did not turn. They had recognized the death-note in that voice.

As the door swung into place, Jeanne's rescuer heard a yell of rage. "Morgan! Shoot, you fool!"

But in the shadows the fugitives mounted safely and away. The man still kept the mask on his face. He had not uttered a single word since entering the lane. He suddenly drew in; and Jeanne's horse stopped of its own accord.

"Charles Lowell," she said, rather breathlessly. "I shall always remember what you have done for me this night. You promised me 12 hours. Thank you. Your way is back there, mine yonder. We may meet again. So, God bless you and keep you safe and whole!"

"Wait!" The voice was muffled. The man drew a folded paper from his pocket and handed it to her. He impulsively kissed the hand that reached out; then he folded the palm over the paper and let the hand fall. "The horse is mine; keep it. Good-by, Jeanne Beaufort!"

He wheeled suddenly and cantered away.

Jeanne thought it strange that he did not raise his mask, in so much as she had discovered his identity. When he disappeared, she opened the paper curiously.

The moonlight was clear; but she had no need to read; she would have known that paper in the dark, among all others in the world, by the mere feel of it.

It was her marriage-certificate! She laughed brokenly. She had passed through a singularly trying ordeal; and now, out of it all safely, her nerves began to go. She shook with transient vertigo and dared not start her horse lest she fall.

Henry Morgan! So many things she understood at last. He had left his own name out of the list he had given her—H-R-D-M was on the certificate.

How simple it was! And so blind had been her faith in his loyalty, little as she liked him, that not the least inkling of the truth had ever come to her.

THE GUMPS—THAT WILL BE ALL FROM POISON IVY

Lowell was sitting in their room when Armitage, looking like a man who had been riding hard and far, entered.

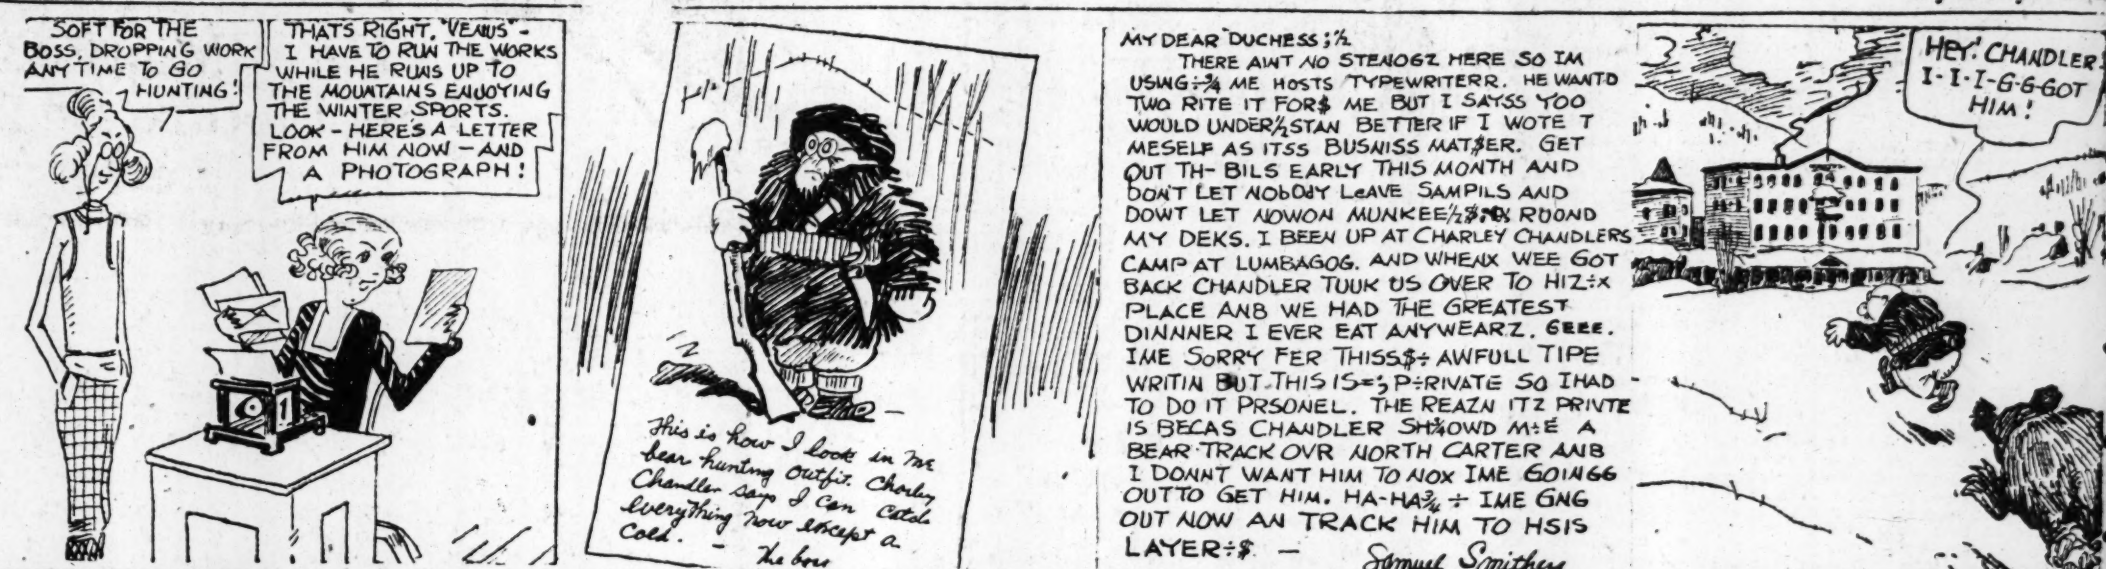

"I took Jeanne Armitage out of Kennedy's hands tonight," said Armitage with a few preliminaries. "Am I a traitor?"

"Kennedy" returned Lowell, "we quite mad." Kennedy dropped his head; but sometimes you go a little far. We're not under your or I couldn't help it. I'd better get going. And yet you storm along—dizzy. Into this room and demand—as if you had authority—to know who snatched Kennedy drank it and rose. Then Kennedy dropped his head.

"Five or six miles away?" cried the general, astonished. "I received information last night that the Yankees were still in camp, thirty miles away. They have marched all night, sir. I know—because I marched with them."

"I got away by the barest chance," said Morgan, indicating his forehead. "I could not cut for it any sooner. I've been inside their lines for three days. I was discovered by a man named Parson Kennedy. He seized the nearest musket and tried to skewer me. I caught the bayonet in time to prevent its going into my skull. I knocked him flat with the butt. I'm about done." He sat down on a camp-stool, accepted a flask, and drank rather deeply for one who wished merely a tonic. Continued Tomorrow.

INDUSTRIES SHOW PRODUCTION GAINS

Reserve Board Review Reports Greater Activity by Basic Industries in United States.

Washington, November 30.—Virtually all basic industries in the United States are showing increased productive activity, according to the federal reserve board which in a review of business and trade conditions made public today reported a generally improved situation in the American business world.

The improved conditions, according to the review, reflected a first, greatly increased employment of labor in industrial establishments and, second, in an unprecedented demand for raw materials. However, it was noted that on November 1 the greatest shortage of freight cars developed was recorded, while immediately before that time the freight cars were maintained almost at the maximum.

Mill consumption of textiles was behind the review stated and added that the mill requirements of cotton continued on an increase which late in October and early in November were at their peak. In the previous years, Silk and woolen mills, the review disclosed, were near capacity operation in the face of a virtually constant wholesale market and the seasonal declines in some lines of dry goods.

THEATERS :: MOVIES

Atlanta Theatre—All week, Matinee Saturday, the musical comedy, "Tangerine."
Forsyth Theatre—All week, Forsyth Players in "Nightie Night."
Lyric Theatre—(Keith Vaudeville). See advertising for program.
Loew's Grand—(Vendeville and pictures). See advertising for program.

"Nightie Night"

(At the Forsyth).
 Young women who married their husbands to reform them, can get some pointers from Belle Bennett and John Laitel in "Nightie Night," presented at the Forsyth theater all this week.
 The reception of incidents quite innocently entered into by Billy Motat (Mr. Laitel) with "Trixie" Lorraine (Kathryn Givney), an old-time friend of the chorus and the particular object of his young wife Molly's jealousy, produce their high tension, but at the critical moment the husband more of the situation overcomes any ill effects.

 Throughout a prologue and three acts the Forsyth players give the audience a chance to laugh away all the troubles of the work-day world, leaving them in thorough good humor.
 Gus Forbes, Miss Alice Baker and Miss Mary Tarry all have parts which enable them to demonstrate their ability. "Nightie Night" is one of the most entertaining farces ever presented in Atlanta.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Lyric).
 A delightful musical comedy entitled "Annabelle" featured the bill for the opening night for the latter part of the week at B. F. Keith's Lyric theater. A capable cast, including four women and two men, rendered a number of entertaining songs. The good music and splendid voices enabled them to demonstrate their ability. "Nightie Night" is one of the most entertaining farces ever presented in Atlanta.

Harold Mahoney, in a little skit called "The Fireman and the Chief," came in for his large share of applause when these two rendered one of the most mirthful and musical few minutes of song and funny stories heard on an Atlanta vaudeville stage in a good long while. Milton and Dillon offered a number of popular moonlight melodies.

The Georgia Tech "night-shir" paraders marched across the stage in the middle of the performance, creating much excitement and laughter. The celebrators had with them a large stuffed tiger and were deriving a great deal of pleasure out of twisting its tail as they filed across the stage and around through the aisles.

Loew's Vaudeville.
 (At the Grand).
 Happy holiday crowds were in attendance at all four performances at Loew's Grand theater on Thanksgiving day, thoroughly enjoying the excellent special bill. As the headliner Manager James presented General Pissano and company in a thrilling sharp-shooting exhibition called "At the Italian Front." Rarely if ever has there appeared on the stage at Loew's Grand a more expert marksman than General Pissano. It is a wonderful number presented by a master marksman whose pleasing personality adds greatly to the entertainment. The satisfaction of the audience was at all times evident by the pronounced display of enthusiasm and intense interest. The lighting of matches and snuffing them out by shots from the rifle were some of the remarkable feats he performed, requiring accuracy, nerve and skill.

Silvers and Berger are double blackface comedians with a ready fund of comical chatter and a liberal supply of popular songs. They were called back for more at the conclusion of every song.

Other good acts are Evans and Hoey in a comedy skit with songs and dances, Bertie and Bonnie in a piano and tunes from musical shows and the Blum Brothers who are experienced in hand-to-hand and other difficult acrobatic stunts.

The feature of the screen bill is Earle Williams in "The Man From Downing Street."

Jackie Coogan.

(Coming to Metropolitan).
 There comes next week to the Metropolitan theater a picture heralded as a "milestone on the highway of art," and which bears the recommendation of its own right. It is "Oliver Twist" starring the adorable child actor of the screen, Jackie Coogan, produced by S. L. Lesser, directed by Frank Lloyd, and presented by a company of the most distinguished screen celebrities, including Lon Chaney, Gladys Brockwell, Lionel Belmore and a host of others. The picture is described as the most ambitious in which the juvenile star, Jackie Coogan, has ever appeared, and it is asserted that in it he has registered an appeal that strikes the hearts of young and old and of all classes of picture patrons as well as those that are not usually enticed to the theater.

Wesley Barry.

(At Metropolitan).
 Wallace Worsley, who directed the latest Wesley Barry picture, "Rags to Riches," a Harry Rapf production sponsored by the Warner Brothers which is being shown at the Metropolitan theater has the reputation as a director whose pictures bear the stamp of fine artistry and popular appeal.

After a number of years as leading juvenile player in New York plays Mr. Worsley was cast in the leading Frohman's memorable stage production. He was a familiar figure to the theater-goers of New York and the east for over 10 years.

Great Success of Last Year Repeated by Danish Singer

Repeating his big success of last year, Reinhold Werenrath, famous Danish baritone, won many new friends in Atlanta by his finished voice and pleasing program in his concert at the Auditorium Thursday night as one of the series of attractions of the Atlanta Music Bureau. Mr. Werenrath's rich and resonant voice was heard in a program that included a wide variety of selections and which proved to be immensely popular with a large audience.

In his first group Mr. Werenrath offered three old Irish songs and an old Scotch song which were utilized to show his wide range and song inflection. The songs in this group were all simple numbers but served as a background for comparison with his more ambitious numbers coming later on the program.

Three Danish songs followed, and after explaining the text of the songs and their meaning, Mr. Werenrath sang them in his native tongue. "Ismelin Rose," one of the numbers, he explained, is now one of the reigning popular songs of Denmark.

Completing the first half of his program, Mr. Werenrath sang the prologue to "Pagliacci" by Leoncavallo. The song had his first real opportunity of displaying the remarkable strength of his voice and its rich shadings and true tones. This was one of the most effective numbers of the evening and was vigorously applauded. Res. ending to the applause Mr. Werenrath sang one of Deems Taylor's songs and popular numbers. "Smilin' Thru," and "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes."

Opening the second portion of the concert Harry Spier, the capable accompanist, offered two piano solos in which he displayed his remarkable abilities as a pianist. His first number was Scriabin's "Poeme" and his second was one of Rachmaninoff's favorites, "Jeux d'eau," by Ives.

Mr. Werenrath then sang three pretty songs by Deems Taylor and after these turned the program almost to an all-Kipling affair, singing as encores "Fuzzy Wuzz" and "Danny Deever," these coming with "On the Road to Mandalay," which was on the regular program. In the last group was "Fuzzy Wuzz" which proved to be the most popular of the evening.

In this song Mr. Werenrath pitched his voice to such tones as to imitate a growling brook and showed the wonderful natural sweetness of his voice.

After the regular program was completed Mr. Werenrath was forced to return for several bows and finally sang what he said was the inevitable "Danny Deever." He sang this Kipling number with such dramatic realism that a person almost could hear the fellow squawking "they were 'Anging Danny Deever in the Morning."

Mr. Werenrath's splendid concert given with the assistance of Mr. Spier proved to be one of the most attractive of the series offered by the Atlanta music bureau and seemed to thoroughly please the big Thanksgiving audience in every particular.

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO FORMER WOMAN WORKER FOR KLAN
 Announcement was made Thursday night that at the final session late Wednesday night of the imperial Klonovalion of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan a resolution was adopted paying high praise to Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler Grow, formerly connected with the propagation department of the organization, and expressed the greatest confidence in her.

A committee was appointed to present her with the resolutions and this was done Thursday at her office, the committee also presenting her with a large bouquet of American beauty roses.

The resolutions set forth that the Klansmen "now assembled in Atlanta, our imperial city, do extend to her the warmest and most affectionate confidence and our everlasting love." The resolution also commends her as a model of American womanhood.

The resolutions were read by J. J. Comer, Arkansas; H. W. Evans, Texas; Dr. William J. Mahoney, Mississippi; Dr. C. L. Harrod, Ohio; Nathan B. Fortson, Georgia; Bro. Brown Harwood, Texas; George C. McCarron, Kansas; Bertram Christie, California; H. C. McCall, Texas; Dr. Cleb A. Ridley, Georgia; F. L. Sawyer, New York; Colonel William Joseph Simmons, Georgia.

Alleged Tire Thief, Arrested, Escapes In Rain of Shots
 Pursued by officers who opened fire on him, Will Howard, arrested on a tire theft charge Thursday night, made his escape after he had been brought to police headquarters in a patrol wagon.

Tires in Howard's possession when he was placed under arrest were being unloaded at the alley entrance of the city jail by Wagon Man H. D. Donehue. When the negro made his leap for liberty, the officer had a tire in each hand. The prisoner jumped squarely on top of him, and dashed out of the alley. A half dozen call officers, reinforced by the patrol wagon crew, dashed madly after him, firing at the fugitive as they ran.

WIFE CHARGES HUSBY KNOCKED HER DOWN
 Earl H. Mills, age 31, 238 Central avenue, was arrested Thursday night charged with wife-beating. His wife, who asked that he be taken into custody, said he came home in an intoxicated condition and struck her several times, knocking her down. His bond was fixed at $100. He was ordered held for a peace warrant.
